STATE WILL PROBE VIOLATION OF LAW BY AUTOMOBILISTS

Attitude of Chatham and Bibb Counties in Regard to Regulations Scored by Secretary of State Cook.

OVER 8,000 MACHINES STILL WITHOUT TAGS

Secretary Cook Will Hold Conference Soon With Attorney General Grice to Decide Upon Legal Action.

SUPERSTITION PLAYS PART.

Hundreds of superstitious people are among those with whom Secretary of State Phil Cook has to deal in the issuance of automobile tags. Here is one of the many letters of a similar nature that he has to answer:

"Hon. Phil Cook, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: I received my auto license tag last Friday, No. 12713. I am not very superstitious myself, but I have a lot of people with me who are. You know there is no more superstitious class of people than theatrical people. I know that all season when, for any reason, business happens to be bad or weather unfavorable, I will continue to hear comments on my license number. So I am writing to ask if I will return this tag, with sufficient postage to cover the return, would you be kind enough to exchange? I dislike to trouble you in what I know is your busy time, but I assure you it will be doing me quite a favor.

"Awaiting your reply before sending this tag back, I am, yours very truly, ——————."

The signature and address are omitted for obvious reasons.

Many such inquiries as this are adding to the duties of the secretary of state.

Following information given him in The Constitution's story Wednesday morning of the refusal of the Bibb county commissioners to enforce the automobile law and the adverse view of the law taken by Chatham county, Secretary of State Phil Cook Wednesday began an investigation and will take action according to the results he finds.

"It is incumbent upon me, as a state official charged with this duty, to follow this course," said Secretary Cook, "and it is done without any personal feeling. I am an automobile owner myself, and am subject to the same law which it is my duty to execute."

Secretary Cook figuratively tore his hair and literally waxed wroth when he learned of the attitudes of Bibb and Chatham counties.

Surprised at Attitude.

"I am surprised," said Secretary Cook, "that any county in Georgia should take the attitude of these counties. There is not a state in the union which has not an automobile law similar to and for the same purpose as the Georgia law. It does not seem reasonable to me that every state in the union can be wrong about this matter, and only Bibb and Chatham counties, of Georgia, right.

"The argument of Bibb county that the receipts for enforcing the law in Bibb county would amount to only $400, while it would cost $500, seems hardly valid to me. There is no doubt in my mind, with as many people as there are looking for work, that $100 would find a man who, in one month's time, would round up every unlicensed automobile in Bibb county.

"The theory upon which Bibb is proceeding is folly. The time has never been when the executive department of any government division in this country was designed for the purpose of making money. An executive office was never conceived as a business institution. Bibb county maintains a courthouse and a jail, and arrests murderers, but it is not presumed for a moment that these activities are pursued for the purpose of making money.

"I am sure that the commissioners of Bibb county took an oath of office similar to mine, which is to uphold the laws of this state. If this solemn oath means anything to them, I do not see how they can consistently maintain the position they have taken."

Will Confer With Grice.

Secretary Cook, when questioned, did not state what course he will pursue toward violators of the automobile law, but intimated that there are several courses of action open to him.

He will hold a consultation with Attorney General Warren Grice at the earliest possible moment.

It is known that former Attorney General Felder informed the secretary of state that upon the secretary's obtaining evidence of violation of the law he may submit the name of the violator to the solicitor of the circuit under whose jurisdiction the violation comes, and demand prosecution.

It is also stated that the governor can authorize the secretary of state to deputize an inspector to ascertain violators of the law.

Besides these, there are said to be other recourses open to the secretary.

There are yet more than 8,000 owners of automobiles in Georgia who have not applied for licenses. There are thousands who have applied late and whose orders have not yet been filled by the office of the secretary. It will be impossible to reach all of these applications for a week or more to come. Besides these, there are innumerable applications made out in the wrong manner, applications with no money accompanying them or the wrong amounts of money, all of which necessitate correspondence. Several days ago Secretary of State Cook received a proposition for the sale of two tags, the price of which is $5 each, for $7.50, and there was a money order for that amount in the letter.

The greatest complaint the secretary finds now is, "I don't mind buying a tag, but Bill Smith or John Jones never buys one."

Denies This Report.

GEORGIANS TO GET THEIR WAR CLAIMS

Several Atlantans to Receive Awards—St. Philip's and Masonic Hall Trustees Are in the List.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, March 3.—(Special.)—War claims for a large number of Georgia citizens, which have been pending in congress for years, seem practically certain of final adjustment before this session ends tomorrow at noon. The senate, which usually has killed the southern war claims bill by loading it down with the French spoliation claims, today passed the measure with only slight amendments and sent it to conference. An agreement on the unimportant points is dispute will undoubtedly be reached speedily.

The total amount carried for Georgians in the bill is $51,368. The largest individual award is to Julia A. Crusselle, of Atlanta, administratrix of the estate of William H. Rice, deceased; she receives $8,190. St. Philip's church, Atlanta, gets $800 for the use of its property by federal soldiers, and the Masonic hall trustees, Atlanta, receive $475.

The other Atlanta claimants who receive awards are the following: Catherine Kelton, $500; Mary A. Landis, $1,100; S. Inman, administrator of the estate of Jacob B. Russell, late of Catoosa county, $3,210.

In addition to private claims, the following church claims were allowed: Church of Christ, Acworth, $400; Catholic church, Dalton, $2,680; First Presbyterian church, Dalton, $800; Jerusalem Evangelical Lutheran church, Ebenezer, $225; Timber Ridge Presbyterian church, Henry county, $500; First Baptist church, Lafayette, $300; African Methodist Episcopal church, Marietta, $425; Methodist church, Powder Springs, $800; Baptist church, Powder Springs, $650; Methodist church, Ringgold, $750; Pleasant Grove Baptist church, Ringgold, $400; Presbyterian church, Marietta, $3,000; St. Peter's Episcopal home, $1,200.

$100,000 for V. M. I.

Washington, March 3.—The house tonight granted the claim of the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va., for $100,000 damages caused by the destruction of its library and other property by fire when federal troops, under General Hunter, entered the town in 1864.

The bill was called up by Representative Flood, of Virginia. It was passed 186 to 57, and now goes to the president.

NOON MARKS LAST OF 63D CONGRESS

High Pressure Feature of Closing Hours — Shipping Measure Abandoned, Also Rural Credits Provision.

Washington, March 3.—The sixty-third congress, under high legislative pressure, tonight worked its way toward its end at noon tomorrow.

Under the eyes of hundreds of spectators, the two houses handled a flood of bills, resolutions and conference reports in a desperate effort to pass all necessary legislation before adjournment. The sessions of both houses promised to be virtually continuous until the end.

In the fading hours the government ship-purchase bill, which served as the vehicle for the most determined successful filibuster ever undertaken in congress, died without a final struggle. The bill was withdrawn by its supporters in the senate when an effort to have it referred to conference a second time met with more filibustering by its opponents.

Soon after this measure had been shunted into the discard, rural credit legislation, which at the eleventh hour had been attached to the agricultural appropriation bill, was abandoned because conferees could not agree on its provisions.

Other important measures which at a late hour tonight seemed doomed were the Philippine self-government bill and the water power and mineral land leasing measures, both vigorously urged by President Wilson at the beginning of the congress.

An agreement on the postoffice appropriation bill, the last of the supply measures in conference, was reached by the conferees late tonight.

Provision for the space basis of payment for railway mail service was retained. The proposed abolition of assistant postmasters was eliminated.

Confusion, disorders and noise were the chief characteristics of the final legislative spurt in the house. Members and spectators kept up a constant hum of conversation that at times grew to a roar. It was hushed now and then by the frantic efforts of Speaker Clark, who pounded his desk with the gavel, admonished the members on the floor and roundly lectured the galleries in vain endeavors to preserve order.

While the house waited for the big appropriation bills and conference reports upon which action was absolutely necessary, the speaker directed the consideration of bills by unanimous consent. A continuous clamor of recognition resulted. Members called up a flood of bills of every description in the hope that they might get through without objections.

The great throng of men and women in the galleries sat through this confused legislative flood and outside of the gallery doors more spectators clamored for admittance.

Pythians' Work for Charity Lauded in Eloquent Speech By the Supreme Chancellor

MR. AND MRS. BRIGHAM S. YOUNG,

Of Ada, Ohio. Mr. Young is supreme chancellor of the Pythians. He was the guest of the local lodges Wednesday.

Supreme Chancellor Brigham S. Young, of Ada, Ohio, who, with his wife, is visiting the Knights of Pythias in the city, made an address at the hall in the Kiser building last evening to a large number of the local members of the order.

James W. Austin, past grand chancellor of Georgia, presided. He introduced Past Grand Chancellor Hamilton Douglas and Grand Chancellor H. M. Stanley, who made short talks on the progress of the order in the state.

David J. Bailey, of Griffin, spoke of the order and its work.

Grand Inner Guard Joseph D. Smith, of Barnesville, made a short talk along the same line.

Then came the address of Supreme Chancellor Young, who spoke an hour and fifteen minutes on the good work that the Knights were doing in this country. He referred to the $40,000,000 that had been spent in charity, and of the $1,200,000 that was in the reserve fund for such work. He said that it gave him pleasure to state that millions of dollars were invested by the order in Georgia state bonds. The success of the people of America, he stated, was due much to the teachings of the Knights of Pythias in that brotherly love had brought the north and south together.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Young were given an auto ride over the city, which ended with a luncheon at the Capital City club.

Mrs. Young was entertained by the ladies' auxiliary with a theater party last evening.

A banquet will be given this evening in honor of the grand chancellor. Walter P. Andrews is chairman of the reception committee, and Secretary W. G. Moore is assisting him in entertaining the visitors.

Big Ball Will Be Feature Of Charity Bazar Tonight; Contest for Queen Close

Atlanta's generous people have the opportunity to help three of Atlanta's most worthy philanthropic institutions all at one time, through patronizing the charity bazar now being presented at the Auditorium. The ladies representing the three organizations directing the various features of the bazar are Mrs. William R. Hammond, Mrs. Daniel Harris, Mrs. George Dexter, Mrs. J. J. Woodside, Mrs. J. E. C. Pedder, Mrs. Robert L. Cooney, Mrs. J. B. Campbell, Mrs. Mel R. Wilkinson, Miss Adrienne Battey and Miss Margaret Hallman.

Aside from the many interesting exhibits lining the walls of the Auditorium, both afternoon and evening a most creditable vaudeville performance by professional artists is presented. Tonight, after the vaudeville, there will be a large ball in which the most prominent people in Atlanta will participate. The Fifth Regiment band will furnish the music. Tickets of admission are 50 cents, which extends the privilege of the floor for the general dancing.

The vaudeville program this afternoon and this evening includes music by Miss Daisy LaDale. The Flying Herberts will perform an aerial feat; Stanley and Elliott, the famous pantomimists, will do a skit; Lowe and Sterling, of the vaudeville stage, will sing character songs, and Bobby Fountain and his talking horse are on the program.

The contest for the election of the queen becomes more exciting each day, the young ladies being voted on including Misses Virginia Lipscomb, Janie Cooper, Lyda Nash, Marie Dinkins, Jan Robinson, Augusta Gardien, Lillian Carter, Margaret Hallman, Mame Kirkpatrick, Bessie Langhorn, Mainie Hardin and Mildred Sault.

The ladies of the Home for the Friendless had charge Wednesday; those of the Home for the Incurables and the Georgia Society for Children will have charge today.

GEORGIA PASSENGER HITS FREIGHT TRAIN

Negro Fireman Is Killed and Several Passengers Slightly Hurt in Accident.

Passenger train on the Georgia railroad No. 4 was derailed last night at 11:15 o'clock 300 yards from Buckhead by a split switch, the train striking a freight. The engine of the train and four cars were thrown from the track.

Fireman Partee, a negro, on the freight train, was killed, but the engineer, Bryant, was uninjured. Some of the passengers were slightly injured.

The four cars next to the freight engine were turned over and caught on fire.

Robbed Bank of $1,000.

Dequeen, Ark., March 3.—Two men today robbed the Bank of Gillham, Ark., of $1,000, and escaped on horseback after forcing the president of the bank and another man to accompany them several miles into the country.

LAMBDIN NAMED FEDERAL JUDGE

President Wilson Selects Waycross Attorney for the Newly Created Position in Southern Georgia District.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, March 3.—(Special.)—Wallace W. Lambdin, of Waycross, was tonight nominated by President Wilson as United States district judge for the southern district of Georgia. He was promptly confirmed by the senate.

The nomination did not even go to the judiciary committee, but the committee was polled on the floor and a report made by Senator Hoke Smith at an executive session which met at 10 o'clock tonight.

This result is a complete refutation of stories which have gone out from Washington to other Georgia newspapers that the nomination of a judge would probably go over until the fall. It was said this was due to Attorney General Gregory's unwillingness to make a recommendation until he had examined more carefully the qualifications of the various aspirants.

Harris Supported Lambdin.

The strongest influence behind Mr. Lambdin was that of William J. Harris, formerly director of the census, and now a member of the federal trade commission. They have been close personal friends for years, and were drawn more closely together in the fight preceding the Baltimore convention when Mr. Lambdin was one of the Wilson leaders in south Georgia. Senators Hoke Smith and Thomas W. Hardwick announced that any one of a half dozen Georgians who were being prominently mentioned for the judgeship would be satisfactory to them.

The list included Thomas S. Felder, of Macon; Representative Charles L. Bartlett, Joseph E. Pottle, of Milledgeville; Robert J. Travis, of Savannah, and Z. A. Littlejohn, of Americus.

These gentlemen and close friends of theirs have been in Washington for the last two or three days calling on the attorney general and getting together large bales of indorsements to be presented.

During this time Mr. Harris was quietly and determinedly pressing the claims of Judge Lambdin, urging the great importance of having the matter cleared up at once and not permitting the business of the southern district longer to suffer for lack of attention.

Judge Lambdin expects to move to Savannah and make that place his home. It will enable him to give attention to the admiralty practice which attorneys of that city told the house judiciary committee had been woefully neglected during the incumbency of Judge Emory Speer. The new federal judge is 51 years of age and has 19 years of service on the bench in prospect before he will be eligible for retirement.

Graduate of Georgia.

Judge Lambdin was born in Upson county, Georgia, and attended Gordon institute, Barnesville, and later the University of Georgia, from which institution he graduated. He was the youngest member of his class. His present appointment is the first political position he has ever held.

Eight years ago he moved to Waycross, and has won a splendid reputation in southern Georgia for his legal attainments.

He was formerly a law partner of Hooper Alexander, now district attorney for the northern district, and Judge George Hillyer, a member of the railroad commission.

Representative Edwards presented Mr. Travis to Attorney General Gregory today while Representative Crisp took Judge Littlejohn to the white house and introduced him to the president. Both gentlemen reported that they had had most cordial receptions. Judge Littlejohn left the city late this afternoon.

When Mr. Felder was gotten on the phone at the New Willard hotel tonight by The Constitution representative and told of the news, he declined to make any comment. It was currently rumored here that Mr. Felder could have had the place as director of the census, which was today awarded Samuel L. Rogers, of North Carolina, but he preferred something in the line of his legal work.

Lambdin to Move to Savannah.

Judge Lambdin said:

"I am very much gratified at my appointment, and it is my intention, as it has been all along, to make my residence in Savannah if the department of justice approves. I understand the department will approve my going there."

The appropriation for the new judge will not be available until April 1, and Judge Lambdin intends to move to Savannah as soon thereafter as possible if the department allows him to go there. He will confer with the attorney general tomorrow regarding his residence and other details. He regards it as fortunate that his appointment was confirmed by the senate instead of being a recess selection, as he would have felt some hesitancy in moving unless he had been sure he would be confirmed by the next congress.

Mr. Travis congratulated Judge Lambdin tonight on his appointment. "Mr. Lambdin and I are personal friends," said Mr. Travis. "But, of course, I am disappointed that Savannah did not get the appointment. I am sure Mr. Lambdin will make a good judge."

The attorney general talked to Mr. Travis for an hour today about the appointment, and it is believed that Mr. Gregory was surprised at the president's action in making the appointment at this time.

Home Town Highly Gratified.

Waycross, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—Waycross friends of Judge W. W. Lambdin were highly gratified tonight when they learned from Washington of his appointment as United States judge.

Ever since he moved to Waycross from Barnesville in 1906 Judge Lambdin has been actively and prominently identified with all progressive movements in Waycross, becoming one of the most popular men in the city. He associated himself with Leon A. Wilson and John W. Bennett for the practice of law and has been unusually successful.

While never seeking political office in Waycross, friends put him in the race several years ago for member of the board of education, which position he has filled with credit. As he taught for a number of years before beginning the practice of law, it was returning to his first love in a way.

Judge Lambdin has been in Washington for several days, but is expected home before the end of the week. He is the first Waycross man ever to receive a federal appointment of any importance.

New Judgeship for South Carolina.

Washington, March 3.—President Wilson tonight signed a bill creating an additional federal district judgeship in South Carolina. No selection has been made for the position.

GREECE IS CONSIDERING ENTERING THE CONFLICT

Paris, March 3.—A Temps dispatch from Athens says that immediately after a cabinet meeting yesterday the crown prince was summoned to the palace and held a session under the presidency of King Constantine. The session deliberated on the question whether Greece should act in the present crisis. Parliament has been summoned to meet after the council has finished its deliberations.

London, March 3.—A Reuter dispatch from Athens says:

"The allied fleet today bombarded and reduced to silence the forts of Dardanus, Hamidieh and Tchemerlik, on the Asiatic side of the inside Dardanelles. The telegraph station at Bezikia also was demolished.

"The bombardment was carried out by nine ships, which advanced 2 miles up the straits."

ADMIRALTY REPORT ON BOMBARDMENT.

London, March 4.—(12:25 a. m.)—The admiralty late last night issued the following report regarding the bombardment of the Turkish forts by the Anglo-French fleet:

"The operations in the Dardanelles were resumed at 11 o'clock Monday morning, when the Triumph, Ocean and Albion entered the straits and attacked Fort No. 8 and the batteries at White Cliff. The fire was returned by the forts and also by field guns and howitzers.

"An air reconnaissance made by naval seaplanes in the evening brought the report that several new gun positions had been prepared by the enemy, but that no guns were erected in them. The seaplanes also located surface mines.

"During Monday night a force of mine sweepers, covered by destroyers, swept within a mile and a half of Cape Kephez, and their work, which was carried out under fire, is reported to have been excellent. The casualties sustained during the day were slight, amounting to only six wounded.

"Four of the French battleships operated off Bulair and bombarded the batteries and communications.

"The operations at the entrance of the straits, already reported, have resulted in the destruction of nineteen guns, ranging from 6 to 11 inches, eleven guns below 6 inches, four Nordenfelt guns and two searchlights. The magazines of forts 6 and 3 also have been demolished.

"A further report received states that on Tuesday the Canopus, Swiftsure and Cornwallis engaged Fort No. 8. A heavy fire was opened on them by Fort No. 9, together with field batteries and howitzers. Fort No. 9 was damaged and ceased firing at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and, although three ships were hit, the casualty was one man slightly wounded.

"Seaplane reconnaissance was impossible owing to the weather; the mine-sweeping operations were continued throughout the day. The attack progresses.

"The Russian cruiser Askold has joined the allied fleet off the Dardanelles."

BARRACKS FIRED BY FRENCH SHELLS.

Paris, March 3.—(Via London, March 4, 12:30 a. m.)—The French minister of marine tonight issued the following communication:

"The operation of the Anglo-French fleet against the Dardanelles continued yesterday. A French division under Rear Admiral Guepratt operated in the Gulf of Saros against the forts and the Bulair lines. The French battleship Suffren effectively bombarded the Sultan fort, and the battleship Gaulois set fire to the barracks of Fort Napoleon. The garrisons evacuated the works.

"The battleship Bouvet seriously damaged the bridge over the Kavak river."

From the report that the French warship Bouvet had damaged the bridge over the River Kavak, it would appear that the French fleet has been operating far enough north in the Gulf of Saros to throw shells in the vicinity of the town of Kavak, at the head of the Gallipoli peninsula.

FIRE OF WARSHIPS REPORTED INACCURATE.

The Dardanelles, Monday, March 1.—(Via Berlin and The Hague to London, March 4, 12:49 a. m.)—The allied fleet of nine battleships and two cruisers, most of them British, today again bombarded the forts on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, but without success. It seemed to the Associated Press correspondent that the fleet was unable to locate the Turkish positions.

"Operations became more spirited during the course of the afternoon, but apparently without results.

"One British vessel was hit squarely and was obliged to steam out of the

In Massed Formation the Austro-German Forces Attack Only to Be Thrown Back With Great Loss.

GERMANS ARE RETIRING ON NORTHERN LINE

Russians Also Gain a Notable Victory Over the Turks — French Continue Their Strong Offensive on the Western Front.

London, March 3.—In their determination to relieve Przemysl and drive the Russians out of Galicia, the Austro-German armies, which for some weeks have been on the Galician side of the Carpathian mountains, have made repeated attempts the last few days to break through the Russian entrenchments, but without success. Since Sunday, when in massed formation they threw themselves against Russian troops holding strong positions, the Austro-Germans have attacked again and again in spite of heavy losses.

Yesterday, according to the Russian official account, the Austrians delivered furious but unsuccessful attacks between the San and Ordawa rivers, while the Germans made fruitless attempts around Kozfouwka and Rojanka. At Rojanka they lost two companies, which were surrounded and annihilated.

GERMAN LOSSES MUST BE LARGE.

No estimates have been published of losses sustained by the Germanic armies in their efforts to break through the Russian lines at these places, but they are believed to have been very large as the Russian positions were almost impregnable.

In the Austrians' attempt to outflank the Russians in eastern Galicia, two Russian official reports have reported that the Austrians suffered a severe reverse, and that yesterday they lost in prisoners more than 6,000 men. The Russians captured also a number of guns and much transport material.

On the other extreme wing in north Poland the Germans either have assumed the defensive or are retiring, except at Ossowetz, where they continue to bombard the fortress. Berlin reports unofficially that here the Germans have silenced two forts. Their attempt to approach the city, however, has been repulsed.

The Germans, while claiming success near Augustowo, where they captured 1,500 prisoners, admit they have withdrawn their advance guards south of Myszyniec, and that the Russians have been feeling their way to the northwest of Pizasnysz.

The fact seems to be that the Russians are advancing slowly along the whole northern line. They have reinforced their armies at every threatened point, and are considered to be in as good a position as the Germans, who have left their railways behind them.

FRENCH GAINS IN CHAMPAGNE.

So far as the west is concerned, the French offensive in the Champagne region continues to be the outstanding feature of the campaign. The French troops have reached the highest point on the ground north of Perthes and Beausejour, and must be near positions from which they can shell the branch railway that runs to the rear of the German line and maintains communication between the German forces before Rheims and Verdun.

There has been fighting at other points, but none to compare in importance with that in Champagne.

With the allied fleet again bombarding the Dardanelles and the Russians pushing their offensive in the Caucasus, the near east again is coming into the limelight. The Russians have scored a distinct success by the capture of the Turkish port of Khopa, on the Black sea, from which the Turkish army in the Caucasus drew part of its supplies.

Unofficial reports say that besides the ships which are bombarding the interior Dardanelles forts, some of the fleet are throwing shells overland into the Gulf of Saros, so that the Turkish garrisons will be subjected to fire from

GAINS REPORTED BY RUSSIANS.

Petrograd, Russia, March 3.—The war office issued the following statement today:

"On March 1 and 2, between the Niemen and the Vistula (northern Poland) the Germans delivered attacks only in the region of Ossowetz. Many attempts of the enemy to approach the fortress were repulsed.

"In the region of Grodno and in other sectors of the whole front our troops continued to make progress."

"We took by assault the village of Kerjen, on the left bank of the River Amouleff, where we took prisoners ten officers and certain numbers of soldiers and captured two rapid-fire guns.

"In the Carpathians, between Ondava and the San, we continued with complete success to repulse formidable attacks of the Austrian army. The Germans delivered fruitless attacks in the region of Koziouwka and Rojanka. At the latter point we succeeded in enveloping and annihilating two German companies.

"In east Galicia the Austrians who were defending the passages of the River Lomnitza suffered a new very serious check, our troops, while fighting, crossing the river and occupying the village of Krasna. The following day we took 6,000 prisoners, with 64 officers and four cannon, seven rapid-fire guns and a large quantity of regiment and division trains."

"There is no change on the left bank of the Vistula."

MORE PROGRESS BY THE FRENCH.

Paris, March 3.—(Via London, March 4, 12:07 a. m.)—The following official communication has been issued by the French war office:

"From the sea to the Aisne there has been cannonading of varying intensity. The Germans again began to bombard Rheims with incendiary shells.

"In the Champagne region, on the front north of Souain, Mesnil and Beausejour, our progress continues. We are holding on the entire attacking front, that is to say, over a distance of over six kilometers (nearly four miles), a total of German lines representing a depth of one kilometer (two-thirds of a mile).

"Our progress today has been particularly marked to the west of Perthes, where we have captured trenches and extended our position in the woods. We also gained ground to the north of Mesnil. Finally, in the same region, we have repulsed several violent counter-attacks. The regiments of the guards sustained enormous losses.

"Since the last communication, we have made about 100 prisoners and have captured a machine gun. Several German attacks were repulsed in the woods of Consenvoye, north of Verdun, and in the forest of Lepetre, west of Pont-a-Mousson."

The communication issued in the afternoon follows:

"There is nothing of importance to add to last night's communication. In Champagne we hold the entire first line of German trenches from a point northwest of Perthes to north of Beausejour, and at several points we have progressed beyond this line.

"The progress at various points which was reported yesterday is confirmed. This progress has been maintained everywhere.

"There has been cannonading in the Argonne.

"On the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

FRENCH REPULSED, GERMANS CLAIM.

Berlin, March 3.—(By Wireless.)—The war office today issued the following:

"Near St. Eloi, to the south of Ypres, the attack yesterday of two English companies upon our lines was repulsed after violent hand-to-hand fighting. At a point near Peronne a French air craft came down on account of motor trouble and the two men on board were taken prisoners.

"The French attacks in the Champagne district have been without any degree of success. The French troops have been once again driven back into their positions with heavy losses.

"To the northwest of Ville-Sur-Tourbe German troops occupied 250 yards of trenches. French advances in the forest of Consenvoye and near Ailly and Apremont have been easily repulsed. Attacks made by our troops to the northeast of Badenvillers again resulted in our getting possession of considerable territory. The German front to the northeast of Celles has advanced during the last few days a distance of eight kilometres (5 miles). The French have made vain attempts to recover their losses of recent days.

"Near Grodno, in Russian Poland, the situation remains unchanged. To the southeast of Augustowo a Russian force endeavored to cross the River Bobr, but it was driven back with heavy losses, 1,500 Russians being taken prisoners. Other Russian attacks in the country to the northeast of Grodno broke down in front of the German lines. To the southwest of Kelno the Germans made advances. At a point to the south of Kysziniec a vanguard of German troops was forced back by the superior strength of the enemy. To the northwest of Przasnysz the Russians endeavored to feel their way and attempted an advance. Several Russian night attacks to the east of Plock have been repulsed."

TURKS DRIVEN BY RUSSIANS.

Tiflis, Trans-Caucasia, March 3.—(Via Petrograd and London.)—The Russian army of the Caucasus, driving the Turkish forces before it, has reached the River Khopachas, the estuary of the Tchoruk, in Armenia. This advance cuts the route of Turkish reinforcements and supplies from Constantinople through Kopa, Turkish Armenia, and isolates a large section of Turkish territory. The isolated section includes the districts of Ardanuch, Ardahan, Olti and Sari Kamysh.

The Russians advanced from Batum, on the Black Sea near the Turkish border, and were opposed by the Turks at every step.

Russian warships cleared the shore of Turkish communications by sea until only the Khopa route remained. After a battle of three days this last route was closed effectively.

GAINS CLAIMED BY AUSTRIANS.

Vienna, March 3.—(Via London, 11:45 p. m.)—The following official communication has been issued by the war office:

"In the Carpathians, west of Uzsok pass, fighting is proceeding, which has developed to a large extent in engagements for the possession of important heights and lines. Several Russian counter attacks have been repulsed with great loss to the enemy.

"During the day several local successes were gained along the battle front. In an assault on a ridge north of Cisna we took 400 prisoners.

"Vigorous fighting is in progress along the whole battle front in southeast Galicia. On the Dunajec river and in Russian Poland nothing of importance has occurred."

ANTIVARI SHELLED BY AUSTRIANS.

London, March 3.—Austrian warships have been bombarding Antivari, Montenegro, and have inflicted considerable damage.

A message received today from Cettinjo by the Montenegrin consul general here says:

"Tuesday morning five Austrian warships entered the port of Antivari and bombarded the town and port. They destroyed a quantity of valuable stores, sank the royal yacht which was at anchor and killed one civilian."

RUSSIAN FORTS REPORTED WRECKED.

Berlin, March 3.—(Via London.)—Two of the Russian forts at Ossowetz, Poland, have been demolished and their guns silenced, according to dispatch printed today in The Cologne Gazettte.

Ossowetz is an important fortress in northern Poland, near the Prussian frontier. It is one of the points of support in the fortified line to which the Russian tenth army fell back after its retreat recently from East Prussia.

BATTLES RAGE IN SNOWSTORMS.

Berlin, March 3.—(Via London.)—The Tageblatt's correspondent in Galicia, says the Russians have not won a single complete success in their efforts to regain Carpahtian crests lost by them. He says heavy fighting continues along the whole line, in spite of heavy snowstorms. The Russians are sacrificing many men in their effort to regain mountain heights and prevent a threatened encircling of their flank.

BOMBS DROPPED ON WARSAW.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, March 3.—(Via Petrograd and London.)—A German aviator today bombarded Warsaw. Most of the bombs fell in residential districts. Many windows were shattered, but there were no casualties.

FRENCH MASTERS IN THE ARGONNE.

Paris, March 4.—(12:10 a. m.)—This supplementary official statement was issued last night by the French war office:

"It can be stated that in the Argonne, where we had been constantly attacked since December, the roles in the last three weeks have been reversed. Today we have gained the indisputable ascendancy. This effect is salutary in the local actions, of which the Argonne is the theater, to feel that more and more the enemy is at our mercy and that our moral superiority is assured.

"We have obtained this result by a series of limited operations energetically carried out, and although the German forces which confront us are extremely courageous, we feel that at a given point and moment we are masters and can do what we wish."

The statement gives details of one of these engagements, which, it says, occurs daily, and show the troops' splendid ardor.

ALAMO WILL REOPEN ON OLD ELITE SITE

House Will Be Thoroughly Remodeled, Redecorated, and With New Equipment.

For the past five years, Alamo No. 1, located at 24 Whitehall street, has been one of the most popular moving picture houses in Atlanta. Situated, as it was, right in the heart of the shopping district, thousands visited it daily. With the erection of the new Connally building on the corner of Whitehall and Alabama, the closing of the Alamo No. 1 was necessary. The management carefully considered several downtown sites before deciding the best location for a new home. They have selected the site of the old Elite theater, which is centrally located at five points, on Peachtree street.

The new location is being thoroughly remodeled, redecorated and modern equipment installed and, when ready for opening, which will be some time next week, will hardly be recognizable in its new dress.

Alamo No. 1 has always been in the past one of Atlanta's leading picture houses, and the management intend that it shall continue to be in the future. In addition to the usual equipments, a costly ventilating system will be installed, a high-class orchestra engaged and only first run pictures presented. The program to be shown at the new Alamo will consist of General Film company releases and includes Biographs, Kalems, Vitagraphs, Edisons and other equally as well-known pictures.

The exact opening day will be announced in a few days in The Constitution, and the new plan of the management given at the same time.

FLEET CONTINUES TO HAMMER FORTS

action Saturday. Owing to the heavy weather there was no bombardment Sunday.

The British and French fire today was bad, the shells striking anywhere but the Turkish positions. The bombardment was heavy and the vessels drew a strong cross-fire from the forts, which rendered the taking of the positions impossible. The firing ceased about 4:30 o'clock.

A British hydro-aeroplane made a short reconnoitering flight, which was the only other feature of the operations.

Paris, March 3.—An Athens dispatch to The Figaro says:

"Information from reliable sources is to the effect that Turkey now realizes the situation is becoming critical. Defenses are being thrown up hastily at different points along the coasts of Asia Minor. Troops from the Vilayets of Smyrna are being rushed to the Dardanelles region. Desertions are numerous. Placards are said to have been posted in Constantinople proclaiming the Young Turks' leaders traitors. Bitter dissensions are said to have arisen among the Turkish leaders."

London, March 3.—Telegrams received today by diplomats here confirm the report that the Ottoman bank and the German bank of Constantinople are transferring their effects to Konieh, Asia Minor, and that the archives of the Turkish government already have been removed to that point.

AUSTRIAN SUBMARINES TO AID THE TURKS.

Geneva, March 3.—(Via Paris.)—An Austrian fleet, consisting of six Austro-German submarines accompanied by several torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, left Pola, the Austrian naval base, at dawn yesterday for the Mediterranean, bound for the Dardanelles, according to The Telegram, which bases its report upon what it characterizes as information received from a reliable source from Trieste, by way of Innsbruck. The fleet is said to have been last reported off Cerfu.

Portable Convict Camps Bought by County Board Despite Church Protests

Portable convict camps, despite the bitter protests made by ministers and Marion Jackson, of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, have been purchased by the board of county commissioners. Three cages, each costing $490, were bought yesterday from the Manley Jail works, of Dalton, Ga.

The new camps will be constructed according to plans and specifications by the Fulton county engineering department. They are called portable sleeping compartments, and the commissioners, in their defense, declare that they are not rolling cages, as the opponents to the new camps once took occasion to pronounce them.

NEUTRAL POWERS WON'T BE HEEDED BY GREAT BRITAIN

Despite Protests, There Will Be No Recession From the Announced Policy of Isolating Germany.

London, March 3.—The order-in-council putting the English declaration against German commerce into effect, it is stated authoritatively, will explain details of the admiralty's retaliatory plan.

The exact date of the order has not been decided on, but it probably will be published in a few days.

Great Britain has not prepared an answer to the American proposals regarding the withdrawal of the submarine blockade and the continuance of food movements to the German civil population. The publication of the text of the American note and Germany's reply in the London papers has attracted wide attention.

The English view, which undoubtedly will be embodied in the note to the American government, is that the suggestion propose that Great Britain shall virtually forego the strength of her position due to her superior navy. Great Britain feels that Germany is trying to have the neutral states perform duties for her which she could possibly carry out had she a superior navy.

Furthermore, the British government, it is asserted, will ask what assurance the United States can give that Germany would not resume her submarine activities after she had obtained sufficient food to enable her to carry on the war indefinitely.

England's reply to the suggestion that the belligerents discontinue the use of floating mines will be that she has never used them.

The English position as to the use of neutral flags and the arming of merchant ships is that no general order has been issued for the use of the flags of neutral states and that merchant ships were armed only after Germany had declared a submarine blockade.

WASHINGTON'S EYES TURNED ON LONDON.

Washington, March 3.—The official text of Germany's reply to suggestions of the United States with reference to abandonment of submarine warfare on merchant ships and the shipment of foodstuffs to the civilian population of belligerents was received today by the state department.

The German communication was an acquiescence virtually on all of the points in the American proposal. All eyes are now turned on London, where the reply of the allies to the same communication from the United States will be formulated.

It was admitted at the state department today that a protest and other forms of reply to the British embargo declaration were under consideration, but the impression prevailed generally that no step would be taken until the reply of the allies to the proposals now approved by Germany was in hand.

Although the answer from Germany left one or two points still to be negotiated, the fact that it promised that no attacks by submarines would be made on unarmed merchant vessels provided there was no fictitious use of flags, raised the hopes of officials that something tangible would result from the negotiations. There was confidence, too, that some restrictions would be adopted concerning the use of mines.

Some high officials are optimistic concerning Great Britain's reply. They point out that the retaliatory measures just announced by England were in reality drafted immediately after the German admiralty proclaimed the war zone around Great Britain and Ireland, and were submitted by England to her allies before the American suggestions for a solution were interposed. Great Britain had no other course for the present, some officials thought, than to announce her retaliatory measures.

Obey Letter of Law, Police Chief Instructs Members of His Force

In special order No. 12, the first of that nature that Chief Beavers has issued for some time, he instructed the patrolmen Wednesday to follow the line of their duty to the letter, to look out for drinking places, suspicious characters and to pay no attention to criticisms. This order followed a talk given by the chief to each of the watches on Tuesday.

The main body of the order is taken up with reference to the chief rules governing the conduct and duties of the police. In the preface of this, however, the chief cautions the men to be watchful of suspicious persons on the streets late at night, especially persons "idling and loitering, sneak thieves, burglaries and holdups."

THREE PEOPLE NEAR DEATH IN BIG FIRE

The lives of three persons were jeopardized Wednesday morning when the residence of L. M. Dunlap, 53 Jones avenue, and a grocery store adjoining, owned by Mr. Dunlap, were destroyed by fire. The residence of E. N. Price, 55 Jones avenue, was also slightly damaged. Mr. Jones, when awakened by falling timbers, carried his child to safety and aided his wife in her escape. The loss, which includes the furniture, was partially covered by insurance.

Mr. Rogers' nomination was sent to the senate today.

SOUTHEASTERN FAIR CHARTER ACCEPTED

Association Is Formally Organized at Meeting of Incorporators Held Wednesday Morning.

The Southeastern Fair association was formally organized at a meeting of the incorporators, and this action was immediately followed by a meeting of the stockholders and directors of the association in the directors' room of the chamber of commerce Wednesday at 11 o'clock.

The following incorporators were present: Mell R. Wilkinson, Beaumont Davison, James G. Woodward, J. T. Holleman, M. Rich, C. H. Kelley, John S. Cohen, H. G. Hastings, V. H. Kriegshaber, C. W. Smith, Albert Howell, Jr., Ivan E. Allen and Walter G. Cooper.

On motion of Charles W. Smith, Beaumont Davison was made acting chairman of the incorporators' meeting. Mr. Smith, as attorney for the association, submitted the charter granted by the superior court of Fulton county. A motion was adopted formally accepting the charter and the association was organized under it.

Legal Amount Paid In.

A committee was appointed to ascertain whether all of the common stock had been subscribed for and the required amount paid in. This committee was composed of Albert Howell, Jr., V. H. Kriegshaber and Walter G. Cooper. They reported that the capital stock was subscribed for in full, and the legal 10 per cent paid in.

The by-laws were submitted by Mr. Smith and unanimously adopted. These by-laws provide for a board of directors consisting of from five to twenty-five, a president, vice president, secretary and a treasurer.

The following officers and directors were elected:

President, Mell R. Wilkinson; vice president, V. H. Kriegshaber; secretary, Walter G. Cooper; treasurer, Thomas D. Meador. Directors, Mell R. Wilkinson, V. H. Kriegshaber, Brooks Morgan, Albert Howell, Jr., H. G. Hastings, Ivan E. Allen, James G. Woodward, I. N. Ragsdale, S. B. Turman.

It was understood that these officers and directors will serve until the full capital stock has been raised, when they will resign and new officers and directors will be elected for the year.

This arrangement is made in order that the final selection may not be made until it is known who are the subscribers to the preferred stock, and also in order that the proper representation may be given to the city and county, at which time the board of directors will be increased to twenty-five, so that additional members from the city and county, as well as the subscribers, will be included.

Oppose Southeastern Fair.

Urging that the proposed $75,000 appropriation for the Lakewood fair project should be devoted to public improvements, a protest was made by citizens, led by Councilman Edward H. Inman, at the meeting of the board of county commissioners Wednesday morning at the board's regular meeting.

The protest was signed by Mr. Inman, J. O. Akers, J. H. Nunnally, J. Carroll Payne and H. Y. McCord. Mr. Inman, in a short address to the board, declared that the opponents to the fair project were in thorough sympathy with the move to furnish employment to the unemployed of the community, but he urged the devotion of the money to such needy improvements as school, sewer and street systems.

FEDERAL PRISONERS ARE GIVEN A TREAT IN UNIVERSAL FILM

The inmates of the United States federal prison at Atlanta were afforded a moving picture treat on Wednesday afternoon by the Universal Film Manufacturing company through the local manager, Joseph L. Marentette.

The $50 prize title reward picture, a modern life drama, for which the Universal company is offering a prize of $50 to the person who suggests the most appropriate name, was the picture presented.

When the picture was made no name could be found which was big enough. The producers then decided to give the public an opportunity to suggest a name and straightaway decided to offer the prize. The reward is open to the world.

It tells a story of a physician of high standing who, by drink and gambling, was dragged down until he becomes a rogue and a criminal and sent to prison, but in the end "comes back."

Special dispensation has been allowed the prisoners by the prison authorities in their mail allowance in order that they may compete in this $50 award offer. The picture was received with much interest by those who were present.

NUT GROWERS ORGANIZE.

Pecan Growers' Exchange Incorporate in Dougherty.

Albany, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—Articles of incorporation have been filed in Dougherty superior court for the National Pecan Growers' exchange, and those who are familiar with conditions affecting the pecan industry regard it as the most important movement yet launched in the interest of its future development along substantial lines.

The exchange is fashioned largely after the California Walnut Growers' association, through whose hands practically the whole walnut crop of California passes, and which has succeeded in saving the growers large sums annually.

Within the last two years many pecan groves in this section of the state have come into bearing, and, although there has been a steady and growing demand for the nuts, market conditions have been far from satisfactory. This has been due to the fact that there was absolutely no uniformity in the packing and grading of nuts. In fact, no grades had been established, and each grower sought a market wherever he could find it, and obtained the best prices he could get. The result has been that the low grade nuts made it difficult for the grower of the higher grades to secure the prices to which he was entitled, though the higher grade of nuts shipped from Albany during the past season brought 50 cents a pound in New York and Chicago.

The pecan exchange now being incorporated will handle the crops of its members, among whom are all the principal growers of Georgia, Florida and Alabama. The exchange has a nominal capital stock, and will be operated on a mutual plan, paying no dividends to its stockholders. It will, it is believed, revolutionize the pecan industry, and place it on a stable basis, so far as marketing problems are concerned.

The incorporators are W. F. Bullard, of Albany; C. H. Van Duzee, Cairo; J. B. Wight, Cairo; B. W. Stone, Thomasville; H. K. Miller, Monticello, Fla.; Arthur M. Rich, Foley, Ala.; T. H. Parker, Moultrie; H. C. White, Putney, and J. M. Patterson, Chicago.

STATE WILL PROBE VIOLATION OF LAW

Wednesday from Thomasville which stated that it is currently reported in Thomasville that the secretary of state gets $2 out of every $5 received in payment for automobile licenses, and that this is the reason he is trying to have the law properly enforced.

"I wish to state," said Secretary Cook, "that I nor anyone in my office gets a single cent out of the execution of this law. It is a duty imposed upon this office without additional remuneration. The legislature has not even provided a clerk for this purpose, but the entire work has to be done by myself and the record clerk."

ATHENS RADIO CATCHES MESSAGES FROM PANAMA

Athens, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—For the instruction of the higher students in the physics department of the university a wireless station with complete apparatus has been installed on the campus, most of the material and work being supplied by the students themselves. The wires extend from the flag pole on Moore college to the top of the academic building—eighty feet above ground. There is an aerial of 216 feet. Last night Professor Slack caught wave signals from stations at Charleston, S. C.; Springfield, Ill., and Arlington. Messages have been heard from the Panama zone stations and from other distances indicating that the instrument will catch the vibrations originating at points fully 2,000 miles away.

CONTRABRAND GOODS SHIPPED INTO GERMANY

Milan, Via Rome, March 3.—Notwithstanding the government's rigid precautions to prevent re-exportation of contrabrand to belligerent nations, it has been discovered that large quantities of copper have been sent to Berlin concealed in trucks loaded with cabbages. Officials now have increased their vigilance.

NEW SURVEYS ORDERED FOR GEORGIA RIVERS

Further Improvement of the Coosa, However, Is Dealt a Blow.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, March 3.—(Special.)—Further improvement of the Coosa river, a project which has been close to the heart of Representative Lee for Georgia, was dealt a blow in the rivers and harbors bill, which was finally agreed to today in the senate and house.

The bill carries a lump appropriation of $25,000,000 to be expended under the direction of the secretary of war. The war department is directed, however, to make a further investigation and report whether certain projects already begun should be modified or abandoned altogether. One of these is the Coosa river.

In addition to such sums as the chief of engineers may decide to spend in Georgia, the following new surveys are directed to be made with a view to further improvements: Ogeechee river, cut between Baileys cut of the Saltilla river and the head of Dover creek; Sapelo river, Brier creek from its mouth to a point opposite Waynesboro; White Chimney river to the neck; Julington river, North Sapelo river, Savannah harbor, Savannah river at Augusta, between the upper line of the river and the mouth of Butter creek; Flint river, Chattahooche river, Coosa river, from Rome to first lock below Gadsden.

Representative Carl Vinson has been active in behalf of the Savannah river improvement and made a speech in advocacy of it recently.

"I hope this survey will lead at an early date to the inauguration of improvement work to protect Augusta from any danger of future floods," said Mr. Vinson. "I feel sure the money for it will be appropriated next year."

ATHENS ORDINARY REFUSES TO REVOKE SALOON LICENSES

Athens, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—After swearing out warrants for two of the near beer dealers of the city for doing business for a month or more this year without taking out state licenses, the committee representing the prohibition forces here yesterday presented a petition to Judge Orr, ordinary, asking that he revoke the license of every dealer, wholesale and retail, in Athens.

The petition alleged that the near beer dealers are licensed to sell a "substitute" for beer and that as a matter of fact they are dispensing the "real thing." They cite the names of standard brands and the legends on the labels of the bottles, citing also the fact that every dealer has an internal revenue license "to sell beer" posted conspicuously.

The ordinary refused to consider the petition on the grounds that it is not in the jurisdiction of his court to hear criminal cases, that he is acting only as agent for the state in granting licenses, transmitting money to the treasurer of the state without even getting a commission for the collection; and holding that if dealers are violating law under cover of the license granted by the state the superior court and city court are open for criminal prosecutions.

COFFEE IS WORKING TO SECURE HIGHWAY

Douglas, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—The board of county commissioners, at their recent meeting, pledged themselves to build and maintain throughout Coffee county, from Irwin on one side, to Ware county, southeast, a highway of the same character as any portion of the same in the above or adjoining counties, and to see to it that the road is kept in a thorough state of repair. This action was taken on condition that the authorities in charge bring through the county the great Hoosier highway from Atlanta to Jacksonville. The use of this resolution was authorized in an effort to induce those in charge of the enterprise to establish it in the county.

$7,500 Fire at Sparta.

Sparta, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—A $7,500 fire occurred here this morning between 12 and 1 o'clock, in which the stores occupied by E. L. Makemson, J. S. Laramore, the pressing establishment of Mrs. C. J. Andrews and a pool room were burned. It is said that the fire originated from a stove in the pool room. The store and stock of E. H. Berry were considerably damaged.

ITCHING ECZEMA SPREAD OVER FACE

Got in Hair. Would Burn. Badly Disfigured. Hair Came Out in Spots. Dry and Lifeless. Cuticura Healed. Hair Now Beautiful.

R. F. D. No. 4, Box 134K., Norfolk, Va. —"I suffered from an eruption which started as a scale around my nose. It would itch and burn and finally it spread over my face and got in my hair. I was badly disfigured. When it was warm I was compelled to scratch it to get ease. Wherever it was on my head the hair would come out in spots. My hair had become dry and lifeless.

"For three years I worked faithfully trying remedies that different people would recommend and it would heal up for a little while and then continued to itch. Finally one day I bought some Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and they healed my eczema and now my hair is beautiful." (Signed) Mrs. L. A. Peace, Sept. 23, 1914.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes.

FARMERS' RALLY DRAWS BIG CROWD AT DECATUR

Mayor Hopkins Praises the Women's Clubs for Originating Plan.

Decatur, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—A large crowd attended the fifth district agricultural rally in Decatur today, when interesting addresses were delivered by prominent agricultural and industrial leaders.

Raymund Daniel, director of the Decatur board of trade, presided at the meeting in the absence of W. J. Dabney, who was called to Atlanta.

Mayor F. T. Hopkins addressed the meeting, extending a welcome on behalf of the people of Decatur and DeKalb. He said the women of the Fifth District Federation, under the auspices of which the agricultural rally was held, were doing a noble work that would be far-reaching in its results and of untold benefit to every home in the district.

Professor A. M. Soule, of the State Agricultural college, spoke at length on the work that was being done by the state institution in developing better methods in planting, cultivation and handling the products of their farms.

Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, who conceived the idea of the Federation of Woman's Clubs holding public rallies in each district of the state, talked interestingly of the problems of the farm. She is an exponent of diversified farming and an ardent friend of the girls' canning clubs and boys' corn clubs of the state, and said that encouragement should be given the young people on the farm in this work.

R. J. H. DeLoach, in charge of the Georgia experiment station, near Griffin, discussed the work of that institution.

Others who made addresses at the rally were J. D. Price, Georgia department of agriculture; S. W. McCallie, state geological department; LeRoy Duncan, representing executive committee of the Georgia Market association; Professor M. L. Brittain, state superintendent of schools; Representative Grabill, of the Southern railway; J. H. Walker, president Fifth District Agricultural school, and Mrs. M. J. Amsden, representative Georgia Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Following the rally the speakers were entertained at a luncheon by the Woman's club.

No Increased Rates Allowed.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 3.—The Missouri house virtually denied the railroads' plea for increased rates today by adopting an amendment to the public service commission bill fixing the maximum passenger rate at 2½ cents a mile when the commission finds such an increase necessary.

SAYS HE WAS TORTURED AS BURGLARY SUSPECT

Carrollton, Ga., March 3.—(Special.) News has just reached Carrollton alleging the torturing of a small negro boy, Hiram Mayfield, at Tallapoosa. It is reported that while in the waiting room of the Southern railroad at Tallapoosa he was approached by two white men, who insisted that he tell them something of a robbery that had taken place in Tallapoosa about three weeks previous. When the boy stated that he did not know anything about it, and that he had just left Carrollton the day before, it is reported they carried him down to the slaughter pen in Tallapoosa and tied his hands with a wire and then put a rope about his neck and swung him up. The boy states that when he regained consciousness he was on the floor of a house at the slaughter pen.

Interest Centers in

The New Hats

Today we are showing Atlanta what the new hats for Spring are—what Paris, what New York say they are.

That it remains for Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. to show Atlanta the authoritative styles in millinery is due very largely to fact that we have what is a little more than a friend at the court of fashions.

The exclusive shop—

Estelle Mershon
20 E. 46 St., New York

draws its patronage from women who require superlatively smart and distinguished hats.

So for our initial display we have the guiding artist of the New York shop.

Miss Stella Price Is Here

with the hats that Paris and New York have declared for.

Of what does their smartness consist?

We'll not, we could not tell you here—but the beautiful display that awaits your eyes!

These are the show days of the new season.

If, Perchance, Someone--- has told you by now of the most remarkable values that the

brought it will doubtless be of interest to know that we provided sufficient quantities to out-last any one day's selling.

That women bought more than twice the amount of crepe de chine underwear Tuesday than in any day of our history is due to the fact that the values were so remarkable.

Exquisitely dainty and lacy crepe de chine underwear in pink and white may still be bought at savings that average a third—not the complete size range of the first day, but still—

Masquerade Dance.

Mr. Barnard Boykin was host last night at a masquerade dancing party at his home, the occasion assembling twenty couples among his friends in Ansley Park.

The evening was a very enjoyable one.

For Bride-Elect.

Mrs. Allen P. Davis and Mrs. Thomas C. Mell entertained delightfully Tuesday afternoon at their home in Ansley Park for Miss Eloise Peck, whose marriage to Mr. Howard Robert Cook will will take place March 18.

The house was springlike with quantities of jonquils, and the color of the flowers was continued in the refreshments. A feature of the afternoon was a miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect.

Miss Peck wore a dainty gown of blue silk combined with chiffon and lace. Mrs. Davis wore black lace over white silk and Mrs. Mell's gown was of sand colored taffeta.

The twenty guests included relatives and a few intimate friends.

Mrs. McCrary's Tea.

Mrs. Joseph B. McCrary was hostess at a pretty 5 o'clock tea yesterday in her apartment at the Ponce de Leon for her mother, Mrs. B. F. Walker, of Monroe, and for Mrs. Isaac Boyd, of Nashville.

Quantities of jonquils formed attractive decorations through the rooms, and the same bright flowers were the centerpiece of the tea table. Mrs. Frank Boland poured tea, and assisting Mrs. McCrary in entertaining were Mrs. Paul Felder Vose, Mrs. Hampton Fields, of Cartersville, Miss Elizabeth Boyd and Miss Ruth Northen.

Mrs. Walker was gowned in black chiffon over white satin. Mrs. Boyd's gown was of black lace combined with satin and tulle, and Mrs. McCrary wore black velvet combined with velvet brocade and cream lace.

The guests included Mrs. Thomas Northen, Mrs. George Muse, Mrs. Alice Muse Thomas, Miss Jessie Muse, Mrs. Hugh Willet, Mrs. Miller, of Paris; Mrs. Porter King, Mrs. L. B. Sanders, Mrs. A. J. Shrophire, Mrs. Charles A. Davis, Mrs. W. J. Kendrick, Mrs. Green Dodd, Mrs. Bolling Jones, Mrs. J. D. Robinson, Mrs. J. M. McCrary, Mrs. T. J. Avery, Mrs. J. R. Mobley, Mrs. Edmund Berkley, of Virginia; Mrs. George Traylor, Mrs. W. J. Northen, Miss Northen, Mrs. May, Mrs. Carthew Yorstoun and her mother, Mrs. Ray Knight.

Anti-Tuberculosis Catechism.

The instructive literature committee of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, Dr. J. Wade Conkling, chairman, spent Wednesday distributing the health catechism to the city schools. The catechism will be studied by the pupils of different schools, and the association will offer prizes in an examination contest.

Among those who assisted in the automobile distribution of catechisms were: Mrs. A. G. Walsh and Mr. T. C. Perkins, Miss Nellie Brown and Mr. J. M. George, Dr. and Mrs. Wade Conkling, Mrs. George Harrington and Miss Mildred Giddish. This committee will complete the work in the remaining schools today.

Art Exhibit.

Everyone who has seen the exhibition of pictures, oils, pastels and etchings which is being held at the Ponce de Leon is enthusiastic over a painting by John R. Hopkins called the "Shining Gown." It does fairly shine, the full, old-fashioned (now new fashion) skirt of heavy ivory satin. For beauty of execution, charm of composition and subject, it is one of the most delightful pictures in the exhibition. The same artist shows an exquisitely handled little nude figure and a very decorative and charming colored picture of a stork.

The several canvases by H. H. Wessel are also among the most popular, and there is always a student or a lover of nature standing before his picture of the rocky coast on the Isle Au Moines, or one of the sunny pictures of fascinating out-of-the-way towns in France.

The life-like portrait of a girl by Frank Duvenick will repay the most careful study, for this genius of brush work was made the simple little girl live and breathe there before us. The other canvas by Duvenick is a boat and water with wonderful color and reflections, strong and interesting.

There is a beautiful collection of etchings by Dwight Sturges and by George Aid, as well as the oil and pastel pictures.

To Miss Hill.

Miss Laura Wyatt has invited her sewing club to meet her guest, Miss Louise Hill, of Macon, this morning.

Ballenger, Mr. Harry Lorick, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Gus T. Dodd, Miss Nita Law, Mrs. J. S. Cowles, Mr. John Boatwright of Danville, Va., Mrs. J. W. White and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Club Entertained.

Mrs. J. C. White was hostess for the members of her history club, "The Modern Topics," at the last meeting at her home on Park street. Mrs. Frank Rose read the paper of the morning, after which a tempting hot luncheon was served.

Pioneer Women Meet.

The meeting of the Pioneer Women's society held yesterday was full of interest, and there was a large membership present to enjoy it. Mrs. Joseph Morgan, president, was in the chair.

A feature of the business session was the hearty indorsement by the society of the movement organized yesterday to create work for unemployed women. Five dollars was voted to be sent to Mrs. J. P. McGovern, chairman, to be used for the purchase of food in cases of immediate need among the unemployed, and $5 for the purchase of coal was sent Dr. John R. Atkinson, through whom rooms at St. Philip's church house have been offered as the workshop for the unemployed.

A resolution was passed to place a memorial tablet on the famous engine "Texas," a confederate relic now at Grant park, and several new members were introduced to the society.

Mrs. Oliver Jones read an interesting paper on Trinity Methodist church and its history, this paper one of a valuable series to be written by the pioneer women giving the stories of all Atlanta's old churches.

Miss Stella Jones, who played some delightful old music reminiscent of the youth of the ladies present, was greeted with enthusiastic pleasure, and a final announcement was the fact that the next meeting will be a memorial to members who have died during the year.

FIREMEN CALLED OUT AT NEWLY-WEDS' RETURN

Douglas, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—Monday night the fire company answering the firing of many guns and the alarm shrieks of the steam fire whistle, hurried to the scene of danger to find that the bedlam was only the usual wiregrass greeting and serenade for a newly wed couple just arrived at home.

Mrs. Davison to Be Head Of Emergency Association To Aid Unemployed Women

Mrs. Beaumont Davison will head the Emergency Association for Unemployed Women, an organization formed by a group of Atlanta's representative men and women meeting in the basement of Carnegie library yesterday afternoon. The first and specific purpose of the organization, as stated in the organizing meeting yesterday, is to create work for Atlanta's unemployed women, the need of this presented previously by the report made by the chamber of commerce on the unemployed; those quoted at the meeting yesterday by representatives of the Associated Charities, by the Young Woman's Christian association and by Mrs. Beaumont Davison, who for three days has headed the work committee out of which the Emergency Association for the Unemployed has grown.

It was emphatically stated that the organization is temporary, its purpose to meet the emergency, which it has been proven cannot be met by Atlanta's several organizations which have worked strenuously to do so, the same being the case in all the large cities at present.

Indorse Municipal Bureau.

The first motion passed by the new organization was that of indorsement to the proposed establishment of a municipal bureau for Atlanta's unemployed, this movement being pushed by a committee appointed by the Atlanta Woman's club, which committee has been working continuously and actively since its appointment. Mrs. A. McD. Wilson made the motion, which was unanimously passed.

The Facts of the Meeting.

Mrs. P. J. McGovern, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, as temporary chairman, presided at the meeting, which lasted two hours and a half, bringing about much discussion, many adverse opinions, all summing up to make the action finally taken by the meeting one well understood and finally unanimous in expression.

Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson asted as secretary.

Mrs. William Kiser, president of the Sheltering Arms society; Mrs. William Witham, president of the Young Woman's Christian association, and Mrs. William Percy were appointed a committee to nominate officers for the new association.

Mrs. A. P. Coles, Mrs. Emily McDougald and Mrs. Haynes McFadden were appointed to act as a steering committee. Mrs. William Lawson Peel, named as a committee to collect a name for the association, reported at once, the name accepted.

Mrs. Beaumont Davison, waited upon by the nominating committee and many of the women assembled, was asked to accept the nomination for the presidency, and accepted. She will be elected at a meeting to be called within a few days, and a board of government appointed.

The offer made by the Rev. J. P. Atkinson, dean of St. Philip's cathedral, that the new association use temporarily several vacant rooms in the parish house of the cathedral for a work shop, where women could at once be given work, was accepted, and the secretary authorized to write Dr. Atkinson to that effect.

Donations Are Received.

Mrs. Peel here donated a bolt of cloth and the use of a sewing machine. Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin donated a large quantity of unbleached cloth which had been given to the Joseph Habersham chapter for table covering at the Georgia produce luncheon, with the request that it afterwards go to charity.

Mrs. Beaumont Davison, who has, in three days' time, collected under the head of the one dollar subscription list from Atlanta women in their efforts to raise $1,000, reported a generous amount and stated that she expected to meet the mark of $1,000 before the end of the week, that amount being necessary to do the immediate work of creating work. Mrs. Davison stated the subscriptions had varied in amounts from $100 to $1. Mrs. Emily McDougald reported she had collected, personally, $70, and Mrs. Robert Wessels is raising a fund of $100 for the general fund.

The first speaker of the meeting was Mrs. McGovern, who told that a group of women met to discuss means of helping the unemployed woman after reading the plea of a wage-earning woman for her unemployed sister; that they made a call in the paper for money, and the creation of work by women, and had received a ready response.

Work of Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. William Witham, from the Young Woman's Christian association, and Miss Alice Wingo and Miss Courtney spoke of the work being done by the Y. W. C. A. They expressed themselves as believing the proposed organization to create work for the unemployed would in no way affect their organization. Mr. Joseph Logan explained the work for the unemployed being done by the Associated Charities and stated, in conclusion, that the proposed organization to create work would in no way affect his organization. Mrs. William Kiser, making a splendid report of what is being done by the Sheltering Arms society, did not believe the proposed new association would in any way conflict with that organization.

Mr. Woolford and Mr. Hoxsey, representing the chamber of commerce, presented the subject of the unemployed as the chamber of commerce had handled it; they stressed the need for women to help create work for unemployed women to meet the present emergency, and to establish, if necessary, a temporary workshop.

Miss Carolyn Cobb spoke beautifully and eloquently in behalf of the unemployed woman.

Mrs. A. P. Coles summed up the opinions of those expressed, and believed a motion to create a new association was in order that the creation of work be begun, the new association to work cooperatively with the organizations already helping the unemployed. Mrs. Peel made the motion to this end, which was unanimously passed. Mrs. Coles moved the appointment of a steering committee to plan organization with the idea of beginning work at once. A group of unemployed women, speaking at the meeting, made most valuable suggestions as to how work might be commenced, and the meeting adjourned in a spirit of harmony growing out of the coming together and complete understanding of many women, each representing interests and agencies working for good.

Until further notice, all contributions to the $1,000 fund being raised by Mrs. Beaumont Davison may be sent to her at 30 West Alabama street.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

By a Specialist.

A very satisfactory preparation which darkens gray hair and acts as a corrective agent for dandruff and other diseases of the scalp can be made at small expense and in your own home by dissolving a small box of Barbo Compound in 7 ounces of water and then adding an ounce of bay rum and a quarter ounce of glycerine. Any drug store can furnish these ingredients. This is to be applied once a week until the hair is sufficiently darkened, then every two weeks to keep the hair soft and glossy and the scalp in a healthy condition. It may be used with equal success in darkening the beard. This is a preparation that gives splendid results, both as a hair darkener and a remedy for all scalp disorders, and is well worthy of a trial. You will find it far superior to the ordinary store preparations and much less expensive.

The well chosen fabrics are crepe de chine, crepe meteor, and softest Swiss taffeta. The styles are too varied for detailed description—the empire waist line prevails, skirts are full, some are shirred and fall in straight graceful lines; others are gored or have the circular flare. Many have sleeves of net chiffon or Georgette crepe; trimmings that lean to the decorative are divided between the brilliantly colored and gold or silver thread embroidery on girdle, panels and collars, and charming iridescent effects are produced in bead embroidery.

The Bolero and Coatee Dresses are variously effected in fascinating combinations and smart braid embroidery is shown on these.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Grandma's Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage Tea Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

CARNEGIE BRANCHES MAY BE ESTABLISHED IN FULTON COUNTY

The board of county commissioners looks with favor upon the plan to establish branches of Carnegie library in different parts of Fulton county in order that county residents may have the advantages that are enjoyed by the Atlanta citizens.

An appropriation of $5,000 to this end was asked of the board at its meeting Wednesday by Mrs. Percival Sneed, librarian; W. W. Gaines, vice chairman of the board of trustees, and J. W. Mason, a member of the trustee board. It was suggested that branches be inaugurated in Hapeville, College Park and Buckhead.

S. B. Turman, chairman of the county board, expressed pleasure at the proposal, and asked that the library representatives submit their appeal in writing. This will be done at the next county board meeting, and, if the proposed $5,000 is available, county library branches, no doubt, will be established.

Atlanta Tech Schools Need Better Equipment, Asserts Calvin Rice

Calvin W. Rice, of New York, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given at the Winecoff hotel Wednesday at noon by the mechanical engineers of Atlanta, who are arranging to organize a local branch of the American society.

At the luncheon the proposed local organization was discussed and agreed upon. Mr. Rice, who is secretary of the national society, furnished some interesting information to those present.

There are in this country 4,859 members of the national society. In Europe there are 310 members, making a total of 5,169. In Georgia the membership at present is 21, but will soon be greatly increased. Among the members are consulting engineers, contracting and constructing engineers and mechanical engineers, draftsmen, designing engineers and estimators.

After the luncheon, Mr. Rice visited the local technical schools and large industries. He was greatly pleased at the showing made by both the Georgia Tech and the Atlanta Tech high school, but expressed himself as not satisfied with the equipment.

On Friday, March 5, Mr. Rice will address the Affiliated Technical societies under the auspices of the mechanical section at the Piedmont hotel at 8 o'clock. His talk on the participation of the engineer in national affairs will be illustrated with lantern slides. He will address the students of the Georgia Tech Friday morning.

Dressed in Cotton Suit, Arnold Leaves Atlanta For Augusta Exposition

L. L. Arnold, editor of Cotton, visited The Constitution last evening clothed like the "lily of the field" in a fine suit of clothes made entirely of cotton. He furnished the raw material at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning to Goldberg, and at 3 p. m. Wednesday the suit was delivered. The suit was of gray, with a small white stripe, and presented an appearance as excellent as any suit of the best of wool.

Mr. Arnold was wearing the cotton suit on his way to attend the Cotton exposition in Augusta, and his business suit will be the only one of the kind worn there.

The exposition is being given under the auspices of the board of governors of the American Manufacturers' association, of which T. I. Hickman is president. The movement for cotton made goods was started by Mr. Hickman, and has so far resulted in the following cotton-made suits being adopted: Uniforms for municipal and street railway employees of Augusta, of the police department of Savannah and of the employees of the Georgia Southern and Florida Railway company.

Besides the exhibit of the cotton uniforms at the exposition, there will be cotton-made garments for women.

Several cotton mills have already engaged in the manufacture of garments made exclusively of cotton.

GRAVE OF MRS. BELL DECORATED BY "BOYS"

The grave in West View cemetery of Mrs. Emma Bell, the lovable Atlanta woman who made the "Bell house," now at 258 Peachtree street, famous, was covered with a beautiful floral design by her "boys" yesterday, which was the first anniversary of her death.

Mrs. Bell was for forty years a resident of Atlanta and during that time endeared herself to hundreds of young men at her boarding house, which she conducted not so much for her personal profit as for the comfort of her "boys." Her death a year ago was a keen personal loss to these men who loved her almost like a mother.

Since her death, the Bell house has been continued by the boys themselves, and on the anniversary of her death a committee visited the grave and placed the flowers upon it in tender expression of the love each had for her.

ATLANTA TURN VEREIN CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

The Atlanta Turn Verein, the oldest social club in the city, celebrated its forty-second anniversary last evening with a banquet and speeches by high officials and representative citizens. The banquet was held at the hall, 26 1-2 South Pryor street.

Newman Laser was toastmaster and introduced the speakers, as follows: Governor John M. Slaton, Mayor James G. Woodward, Judge Nash R. Broyles, Dr. Gilbert, German Lutheran minister; John Y. Smith, F. E. Radensleben, Walter P. Andrews and Lawton Nalley.

All the speakers complimented the Turn Verein on its long life and wished of it many more "happy returns."

The address of welcome was by Fred Wedemeyer, president of the club for the past twelve years.

The many present heartily enjoyed the occasion.

ATLANTA PLAYS HOST TO LEADING RED MEN

Board of Great Chiefs Arranges for Entertainment of Visitors in June.

Atlanta has played the host during the past few days to Red Men from all sections of the state, who gathered here to attend the meeting of the board of great chiefs, and to make arrangements for entertaining several thousand members of the tribe who will come to Atlanta in June for the big powwow.

The big chiefs who were here were: Great Sachem J. R. Miller, of Marietta; Great Senior Sachem Walter Hendrix, of Atlanta; Great Junior Sagamore J. M. Koon, of Augusta; Great Prophet Charles L. Stroberg, of Macon; Great Chief of Wampum George E. Johnson, of Atlanta; Great Chairman of Finance E. H. Griffin, of Griffin; Great Sannap Jesse B. Lee, of Atlanta, and Past Great Sachem Frank Smith.

The meeting of the great chiefs was held in the office of Great Sachem Miller. Plans were made for entertaining the big chiefs of the order when they come to Atlanta for the annual convention.

The visitors were entertained by the local chiefs. Great Sachem Miller and Past Great Sachem Smith and Great Sannap Lee scouted the party of chiefs through the city. On Tuesday, the guests visited Judge Johnson's court and sat with him through several cases.

There are ten tribes of the Improved Order of Red Men in Georgia, but plans have been put on foot by Great Sachem Miller to organize and install a new tribe with 500 members. Progress has already been made in the direction of organizing the tribe, and the following have been appointed to compose the executive committee:

Judge George E. Johnson, A. R. Marbut, Judge Ed Thomas, Thomas Jeffries, Governor John M. Slaton, C. C. Gillett, James L. Mayson, H. H. Green, S. B. Marks, F. F. Smith, Charles L. Woodall, M. C. Strickland, J. E. Bodenhamer, Homer L. Ashley, George N. Crane, George T. Cornett, Walter C. Hendrix, O. H. Puckett, E. A. Baughan, Fred W. Patterson, Sam Boorstein, Jesse B. Lee, Oscar L. Mimms, Carlos H. Mason, J. A. Brice, Morris Brandon, Harry G. Poole, G. F. Barrett, Sam Freeman, J. T. Collier, R. T. Peavey, Ed White, Jr., George Beauchamp, Jim Hollis, W. H. Abbott and H. A. Steiner.

Great Sachem Miller expects to have the new tribe installed about April, with more than 500 members.

GUARANTORS' SEATS FOR GRAND OPERA GO ON SALE TODAY

The sale of boxes to guarantors yesterday indicated the same enthusiastic interest for the 1915 grand opera season as in past years, and the sale of season tickets to guarantors, which opens this morning at 9 o'clock, in room 303 of the Third National bank building, is expected to go forward with a rush.

The sale of season tickets to guarantors will continue through Thursday, Friday and Saturday, beginning each morning at 9 a. m. The public sale of season tickets will begin next Monday, March 8, and will continue through March 27.

Under this year's ruling no guarantor can buy more than eight season seats and only one of these can be an aisle seat, so that there will be plenty of the choicest seats in the house left for the public when the regular sale opens.

UP TO THE COMMISSION.

We publish elsewhere a communication from Walter S. Franklin, Jr., southern freight agent for the Pennsylvania railroad, with reference to the order promulgated by that road, the Baltimore and Ohio and other eastern systems, abolishing the privileges heretofore recognized by them in the use of "split ticket" transportation in through passenger traffic, and regarding which The Constitution has earnestly protested. The order has been held up by the interstate commerce commission, pending an investigation and final ruling which must be handed down shortly.

The direct inference from Mr. Franklin's defense of the order is that the eastern roads have issued it because, under the rulings of the interstate commerce commission, they have no alternative, the assumption being that they would leave the status unchanged if they could. "We are simply trying to live up to the decisions of the commission, as we see and interpret them," he says.

If that is the bona fide motive of the eastern roads in upsetting a principle they have themselves recognized and accepted for many years, then it is up to the commission. This is passing by as incidental Mr. Franklin's admission that the new rule was promulgated only after one of the southern roads begun selling its mileage books in the north.

None of Mr. Franklin's contentions, which are advanced in fair spirit and good humor, change the fundamental charge of The Constitution that the proposed new practice is unjust discrimination. Whether the roads are responsible or whether the commission is responsible, the charge still sticks. The discrimination is there. The only thing left is to place the responsibility.

If the eastern roads, after these many years, are determined to "live up to the decisions of the commission," then it is up to the commission, in its forthcoming ruling, to justify the fairness of the principle involved, which entails flagrant discrimination. Until the commission itself goes on record as sustaining that principle, The Constitution is unwilling to believe the commission will sanction an arrangement that takes toll of traffic from one section, while relieving from the same exaction the traffic from another section.

The principle of charging two prices for transportation between New York and Washington for identically the same service is involved. One price to the man using any passenger train of eastern roads between Washington and New York only. A higher price to the man using those same trains, but happening to have an ultimate destination south of Washington, or north of Washington. That is the thing in a nutshell. For illustration:

A man traveling to New York from Atlanta owns two mileage books, recognized as legal by the commission, one good as far as Washington, the other good between Washington and New York. Under the system recognized by the eastern roads for years, this man, going north, could check his baggage on these books straight through to New York and buy through Pullman transportation; the same coming south to Atlanta from New York. A great deal of the regular passenger traffic between north and south has been under these conditions, because the passenger thereby saved as between Atlanta and New York $4.50 from the regular through, straight ticket sold by the roads.

Under the order now sought to be promulgated by the eastern roads, what happens?

The holder of these mileage books will still use the same trains on the eastern roads between Washington and New York. But if he uses his mileage he will be compelled to get off at Washington, going in either direction, recheck his baggage and make new Pullman reservations, or be penalized in the sum of $4.50 for a through ticket for these through baggage and Pullman privileges. The man getting on the same train at Washington and going to New York, or vice versa, has the advantages of his mileage and the low rate, with all privileges. Thus it is only the through passenger who stands the raise.

If that is not unjust discrimination, from whatever source and by whomsoever decreed, The Constitution does not know how to define it.

It is no wonder that, smarting under a sense of injustice, the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association enters its vigorous protest, and that it is followed by the Rotary Club.

The Constitution acknowledges Mr. Franklin's graceful tribute for its contention in behalf of fair freight rates for the eastern roads. We advocated that principle because we believed it just—just as we are opposing this new principle because we believe it unjust.

Assuming that the contention of the eastern railroads, that they are simply seeking to abide by the decisions of the commission, is bona fide, then it is up to the commission.

The burden is on the commission to say whether it will be party to flagrant discrimination.

Until the decision is handed down in the cases now pending, The Constitution does not believe the commission will place itself in an attitude of such manifest unfairness.

A MARKET DAY.

Charles A. Whittle, of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, in another column, advances the suggestion that the farmers in every Georgia county observe once a week a market day. He would apply the principle to the south generally.

Mr. Whittle's idea is an excellent one. It contemplates bringing the farmers and their surplus products together at one point at one time, where buyers can have easy access to them.

Upon that especial day, the farmers of the county would assemble in the county seat with their products, live stock or what not. The day would soon become an institution, recognized alike by buyers and farmers. The plan would go far toward solving the question of finding a market and other vexed agricultural problems.

It is worthy the consideration of every county in the south.

LANGUAGE FOR THE PEOPLE.

There has been formed in Great Britain a "Society for Pure English," with the poet laureate as its president. The society may be of help to scholars, even of some help to the laity in straightening out the crooked idioms of our language. But, by and large, the English we speak, or the American we speak, springs from the common people, and it is they and not the purists or the grammarians who are the makers of it.

Some of the more precise of our brethren affect regret because of the slackness of the national tongue, the manner in which it is interlarded with slang, and its far-distance from the standards set by the colleges. To our mind, the flexibility of language, as it is spoken in this country, is exactly what gives it its charm. Let every man, woman and child talk as students do who are reading a graduation thesis, and not only conversation, but actual communication between human beings would come near being a lost art.

Most people believe that English, as we speak it on this side of the water, is the same lingo spoken in London and the provinces. As a matter of fact, while the two nations have very much the same foundation for their languages, the variations are wide and interesting. This country, more than any other under the sun, has absorbed the heterogeneous elements of civilization, and with them queer fragments of their language.

An expert student could find in the national tongue traces of almost every language spoken today, with a good many handed down and becoming obsolete. As for slang, it is one of the most illusive qualities. Few people know the genesis of the various slang phrases that come trippingly from their tongues, and few can prophesy whether these phrases will be only lodgers, or abide permanently in the warp and woof of the language.

It all comes down to the rule that language is made for the people, and not people for language. What a precisian would call a corruption of good English, which has crept into the tongue, is more apt to be the national common sense at work ironing out impossible intricacies in the language and making it a better vehicle for thought and expression. Not that any one wants to see language slovenly. But there is a well-defined medium between a slovenly and ill-kept language and one that has to be kept wrapped in tissue paper and is too good for common usage.

TO MOTHERS

By Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D.

REV. J. WILBUR CHAPMAN, D.D.

"Her children arise up and call her blessed."—Prov. 31:28.

When we would set before mankind the perfection of care, give the best expression of tenderness, present the sweetest illustration of gentleness, and give the truest example of forgiveness—we speak of Motherhood. Better than to shine socially and have the world acclaim you great is just to be "Mother." But if you are inconsistent, impatient, neglectful, irritable, critical and indifferent, then your power is gone.

If you would hold your children, you have only to remember:

Your name—it has never yet lost its sweetness when rightly spoken.

Your influence—It holds when every other uplifting thing is forgotten.

Your voice—It is more thrilling than that of the most noted singers in the world.

Your hands—They are never so calloused by toil or wrinkled by age as to lose their tender touch.

Your presence—It hushes the sob, dries the tear, drives back the fever; sometimes defeats death.

And remembering—Live up to these ideals and there is no child so young and none so old but that the memory of such a mother holds when the night is darkest, the day is longest and the influence toward evil most terrific. Remember that you cannot be all that a mother should be without you have Him in your life, who has blessed mothers since He first came into the world. He is Jesus, the Son of God.

A Market Day, Need Of Southern Towns

By Charles A. Whittle, Georgia State College of Agriculture.

Editor Constitution: Once a week a "Market Day" for every small town in the south!

The "Market Day" will do more than anything else to start farm products moving to consuming centers. To move diversified farm products from where they are grown and where there is no market is the big problem of agriculture in the south right now. The present commercial machinery does not move it and will not move it.

Why? Our present commercial machinery in the south is not adjusted to taking care of small quantities of various farm crops. Farmers are not going to venture to grow large quantities of other crops than cotton. Therefore, they will have small quantities to offer.

The small quantities of various crops must be assembled to make a big shipment, to attract buyers, to create competition and get the best the market will offer. There must be central places where farmers can bring their crops, meet buyers and barter.

To get the farmers together at one place with what they have to offer for sale, there should be a "Market Day." Not only should the farmers assemble their products in one place and on a market day but the country merchant should bring the produce he has taken in exchange for goods and there sell to the best advantage.

The larger the quantity of farm produce assembled on a Market Day, the more buyers there will be. Large dealers of Georgia or other states will be only too glad to send buyers where there is enough produce to buy to make it worth while, enough buyers, in fact, to create competition.

Getting Together.

Not only produce, but live stock, will find buyers on a Market Day. It will be considered a fine opportunity for a buyer to have the live stock come together to meet him rather than that he should go out to meet it.

In fact, the "Market Day" should be the one opportunity for farmers and their wives to assemble at the most convenient town and meet buyers who are going to send what they buy on to a consumer somewhere.

What would European farmers do without a "Market Day?" It is the arrangement above all others for the economical handling of the small offerings of the farm class.

Who will designate the "Market Day?"

Who can better do it than the local chamber of commerce? Whose interests will it serve better than the farmer, if not the business men who compose a chamber of commerce? The more farm products are sold at the Market Place on Market Day, the more trade the town will pick up.

Not only is it of interest to the business men of a town to get as much farm produce assembled, but it is to their interest to encourage buyers to come.

It may be the part of wisdom to have a circuit for buyers and succession of Market Days for the various towns. This would admit of one buyer visiting several markets, thus saving expense.

Does this not offer a field of usefulness for the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce?

Russia's Mobilization.

Editor Constitution: I read with interest your editorial about the Russian puzzle in this war. What seemed to puzzle you was the reversal of form shown by the Russians since their marvelously quick mobilization and their first entry into East Prussia.

To one who studied this question a little it would seem the Russians are running true to form right along. In May of 1914 the Russian government voted 216,000,000 "kronen" for a trial mobilization to be held some time during that summer. There was no prefixed date on which this mobilization was to take place, but suddenly, at a signal from the czar, it was to be pushed to completion as quickly as possible. The last week of July or the first week of August were the natural time to expect this signal, and you may be sure that the Russian officials had done everything possible to make a good showing. They must have gone a step further and had their troops partially mobilized before the signal was given, otherwise how could they possibly have had their Siberian troops cross the East Prussian frontier on August 10, when a traveler in normal times could not travel that distance in ten days? As the Germans did not expect the Russians to be ready so soon, they were caught in East Prussia unprepared, and this explains the Russian successes during the first months of the war.

In spite of this first advantage the Russians have been unable to take a single German or Austrian fortress, and by this time the superior generalship and fighting qualities of the German army have put them back where they belong. As a menace to Berlin and Vienna, the Russians are, for the duration of this war at least, a shattered dream of the allies.

In conclusion I would call to your attention the fact that the voting of such an unheard of sum of money for a trial mobilization in times of peace is a significant fact, to say the least of it.

Constitution Thanked For Interest in the Moultrie Packing Plant

Editor Constitution: It is a pleasure to pay tribute to a paper which, like The Constitution, devotes its news and editorial columns to constructive work for Georgia. That is your invariable policy, but I refer now specifically to your recent generosity in devoting an entire page of one of your issues to the new packing plant at this place, the effect it is producing on diversification and the good example it sets for the entire state.

The citizens of Moultrie as well as its officers and the packing company and its directors extend their sincere thanks for your extreme liberality in this matter. We have felt already many evidences of good accomplished by the article.

The packing plant is succeeding beyond our fondest hopes. There are now over 1,500 fine hogs in the pens awaiting slaughter. I had the pleasure of seeing wagon load after wagon load of fine hogs come in this morning, and they were as fine as any I have ever seen in either Chicago or in Kansas City. I feel confident that the success of this enterprise means freedom to the farmer of the south from the tyrannical rule of "King Cotton."

Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Verdun, the greatest fortress in France, is a little city of 13,000 people, surrounded by vine-and-gun clad hills.

Verdun is France's repartee to Metz, which sits across the border, not far away, and is so fiercely fortified that an English sparrow has to imitate a Hartz canary before it can get through the lines. Verdun has sixteen large forts and thirty small ones, each one bristling with guns and armored with steel, concrete, barbed wire and granite. Not a single one of these forts has fallen so far, but this is not because they are stuffed with guns. It is because they have been protected with spades.

War changes all things, and it has done away with the ancient custom of using a fort to protect an army. Nowadays, the army goes out in front of a fort, digs trenches and protects the fort, while the garrison plays checkers and dusts off the big guns. The forts of Verdun have done wonders in the last forty years in warding off insomnia from the French nation, but their work is over.

Nowadays the army goes out in front of a fort, digs trenches and protects the fort while the garrison plays checkers.

The only way to keep a fort in a good state of preservation nowadays is to keep the enemy entirely away from it. If the Germans get within 10 miles of Verdun they will begin building concrete foundations and getting on them guns with mouths like the crater of Vesuvius. A little later the forts of Verdun would rise into the air in a confused manner, and retire from the landscape amid general regret.

Verdun has been in the fort business for almost two thousand years. It belonged to the Belgians 1,900 years ago, and after the Romans captured it they admitted that the Belgians were tougher than the Goths and the smallpox combined. Later on, the Austrians, Germans and French took turns in occupying Verdun and daring the world to come on—which it did in each instance.

Peaceful towns like London, which has never had anything worse than a great fire, or a Wat Tyler rebellion, would not be so agitated over airship raids if they had had a little of Verdun's experience. An airship raid would be a pleasant deversion for Verdun, after having entertained five varieties of conquerors in its shell-spangled past.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON.

MAN OF GRIEF.

I now am bent and old and gray, and I have come a doleful way. A son of sorrow I have been, since first I reached this world of sin. Year after year, and then repeat, all kinds of troubles dogged my feet; they nagged me when I wished to sleep and made me walk the floor and weep. I had all troubles man can find—and most of them were in my mind. When I would number all the cares which gave me worry and gray hairs, I can't remember one so bad that it should bother any lad. And often, looking back, I say, "I wonder why I wasn't gay, when I had youth and strength and health, and all I lacked on earth was wealth? I wonder why I didn't yip with gladness ere I lost my grip? My whole life long I've wailed and whined of cares which lived but in my mind. The griefs that kept me going wrong were things that never came along. The cares that furrowed cheek and brow look much like hop-joint phantoms now. And now that it's too late, almost, I see that trouble is a ghost, a scarecrow on a crooked stick, to scare the gents whose hearts are sick."

Greene County Pioneers Hereford Cattle Sale

Siloam, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—To Greene county goes the honor of pioneering this year the first public sale of Hereford registered cattle, according to claims put forth here. E. T. Boswell, dealer in live stock and general merchandise, will hold a sale on March 19 at which he will put up fifty head of registered Herefords.

The herd includes fifteen choice bulls and thirty-five cows and heifers. They are said by experts to be among the finest cattle ever displayed in Georgia.

Greene is an ideal county for stock raising, and this latest plan is an effort to put it upon a thoroughbred, commercial basis.

Coming in advance of the projected shows in Atlanta, the sale has attracted much attention in this part of the state. There is no doubt it will be largely attended and that there will be no trouble in disposing of the offerings.

3,130 Years of War.

(From The New York World.)

The Temps, of Paris, commenting on the idea that war can be abolished, points out that from 1496 B. C. to A. D. 1861 there were 227 years of peace and 3,130 years of war—one year of peace to fifteen of war.

Eastern Railroads Hold The Interstate Commission Responsible for New Rule

Editor Constitution: While I am only the freight representative of the Pennsylvania railroad system in the south, I cannot refrain from trying to throw a little more light upon the regulations in regard to the use of "split tickets" which you have mentioned in your editorials, entitled "An Indefensible Regulation" of February 27, and "Unjust Discrimination" of March 2.

First of all, let me say that this is not a new situation: it has been brought up from time to time since the passage of the Hepburn bill in 1906. Your editorials of February 27 and 28 might lead your readers to believe that this is a measure adopted by the trunk lines to increase their revenues, and has some connection with the "Five Per Cent Rate Case" and general depression throughout the country. This is not the case, as I will endeavor to prove. The northern trunk lines owe to The Constitution many thanks for articles in favor of the Five Per Cent Case, which were of great assistance in molding public opinion, and which we sincerely appreciate.

What brought this matter up again during the latter part of 1914 was the insistence on the part of one southern road of placing their mileage books on sale in the north. We requested this road not to take this action, explaining our reasons, but without avail. As a result, the trunk lines felt that with the increased use of "split tickets" that this action would, and did, bring about, they could no longer allow the practice to continue.

Harlan's Ruling.

I think you will agree with me that we could not countenance a practice which the interstate commerce commission had condemned in the following terms: (I quote from a letter written by Commissioner Harlan, under date of May 21, 1909, addressed to the Chicago and Alton.)

"You define a split ticket as transportation in two or more parts, and you illustrate such a ticket by saying that it may consist of a local ticket sold at a special published rate legally on file with the commission, providing for transportation from Kansas City to Chicago, and return, say at $7, and a separate ticket sold at the regular published tariff fare for single trip transportation from Chicago to New York, thus giving the holder his through transportation at a cost of $27, although the published first-class single trip fare from Kansas City to New York is $29. You express the view that notwithstanding the fact that the combination of fare thus resulting is $2 less than the published joint through fare, there can be no reasonable objection to the practice so long as the ticket from Kansas City to Chicago and return is authorized under the published tariffs. I am wholly unable to concur in that view of the matter and deem it my duty at once to advise you that the practice is clearly unlawful in my judgment. It has long been a familiar rule of transportation law, which the Hepburn act has much emphasized that an established joint through fare between points is the only lawful charge that the carriers may take for through transportation of passengers between those points. It is no less definitely provided in the law that carriers may not accord through transportation to a traveler for any less sum than the amount of the published through fare. To state the proposition in another way: Carriers may not lawfully substitute a combination of local fares for the specifically published through fare. The commission has so held in rules 55 and 56 of tariff circular 18-A, and the practice described in your letter seems to me to be in direct conflict not only with the law, but with those interpretations of the law by the commission."

This distinctly forbids a railroad company from allowing the use of "split transportation" where there is a through published rate on a higher or lower basis, even where the component parts are legally on file with the commission.

In the present case, the use of two mileage books seems to be the most common practice.

The intent and purpose of mileage tickets is to provide a convenient local form of transportation. The tariff under which our open local mileage ticket is issued shows conclusively that this was the purpose of this form of transportation, so far as our line is concerned, nor are any foreign lines a party to the tariff, it being confined wholly to the territory local to the Pennsylvania railroad east of Pittsburg and Erie.

In explanation of the two decisions which I am about to quote, it should be understood that the Pennsylvania railroad issue a mileage book (and the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg issue another mileage book). These books are not interchangeable. The following two decisions will, I think, clearly indicate the commission's view on the use of "split transportation" or the sum of two mileage books in making reservations and checking baggage:

Two More Decisions.

"Opinion No. 973: Edward L. Kurtz v. Pennsylvania Co. et al.:

". . . The commission might hold that the through rate ought not to exceed the sum of the locals and at the same time hold that a condition that these mileage books should not be used for the purpose of through transportation was reasonable. It may be of great importance to the Pennsylvania lines to maintain the integrity of their through rates between Chicago and New York. That fare is now $20, and the distance by the Pennsylvania lines 912 miles. The use of these 2-cent mileage books for a through journey from New York to Chicago would result in a reduction of the through rate to $18.24, which would affect not only the Pennsylvania company, but all other through lines. That company might well conclude that it would not issue these mileage books at all if it was subjected to the necessity of opening them to such through use. To hold, therefore, that they must be so available would be virtually to deprive the public of the benefit of the mileage book altogether." (Decided June 8, 1909.)

"Opinion No. 1180: Barnard Eschner v. Pennsylvania Railroad Co. et al.:

". . . It seems but natural that a passenger who has paid less than the regular fare paid by the general public should not have precisely the same privileges and advantages, or, to put the thought in another way, we see no impropriety in giving the passenger who has paid the regular fare some privileges and advantages that are not accorded to a passenger who has paid less than the regular fare. If a carrier may extend or withhold the privilege of mileage excursion, and commutation tickets, it would seem to follow that it may attach to them as an integral part of the contract, conditions of the kind involved in this proceeding; and since we cannot compel carriers to issue such tickets, we see no grounds upon which we may compel them to modify the conditions which they attach to them, so long, at least, as these conditions result, as heretofore stated, in no discriminations nor in the violation of any other provision of the act. The complainant alleges that the defendants are guilty of discrimination in withholding from the purchasers of mileage books and exchange orders the right to check their baggage through to destination and to purchase through sleeping car accommodations, and, at the same time, granting such privileges to the general public who purchase regular passenger tickets. The allegation is manifestly without merit, for the complainant is not compelled to purchase mileage books and exchange orders, but may secure the benefit of those through privileges by purchasing a regular ticket. In a word, the right to use exchange orders and mileage books is in the nature of a privilege voluntarily accorded by carriers under their tariffs and must be accepted by those who use such special fares with all lawful and nondiscriminatory limitations that may be attached to them." (Decided March 7, 1910.)

Commission Responsible.

From these two decisions, in connection with Commissioner Harlan's letter of May 29, 1909, quoted above, I do not think you can blame the trunk lines for the position they have taken. The Pennsylvania railroad seems to have been given the brunt of the blame, not by you, but by individuals. That we are not alone interested can easily be seen by the case now being considered by the commission on complaint brought by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, of Baltimore, and others. This complaint is not only being defended by the trunk lines directly involved, but by lines out of trunk line territory, as the Louisville and Nashville, Illinois Central and others. Should the commission decided this case in favor of the complainants, it would reverse all its previous decisions on this question, and involve a complete change in the practices now in vogue throughout the territory east of the Mississippi river, and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

If you have been patient enough to read thus far, I am confident that you will agree with me that we are not forcing an "Unjust Discrimination" on the people of Atlanta, and the south in general. We are not trying to engage in any hair-splitting contest, nor to inject any "ifs," "ands" or "buts." We are simply trying to live up to the decisions of the commission as we see and interpret them. Should this letter, in some small degree, clear up the situation for you, I trust that you may find it consistent to give the matter a further word from your columns, and at least lift some of the blame from the shoulders of the Pennsylvania railroad.

McCray and Mebane To Come to Atlanta To Look Into Cattle Show

Editor Constitution: I cannot commend too highly the spirit and enterprise you have exhibited with regard to putting the breeding of thoroughbred Hereford cattle in Georgia upon a sound and state-wide basis. My first correspondence with you offering to use my good offices with President McCray, of the National Hereford Cattle association, to secure a show and sale of these animals in Atlanta, was tentative. Your energy and enthusiasm have clinched the matter. President McCray now is definitely committed to bringing his herd to Georgia. The rest is with the people of Atlanta and perhaps with Macon and Quitman, both of which have offered inducements. Mr. McCray and myself will be in Atlanta the early part of April to decide the matter, which will then be up to your people.

Constitution's Part.

It is remarkable the interest you have stirred up over your state about the matter, and the correspondence is interesting. You have done a great service for your state.

The only sense of disturbance I have over the matter is that I want to live up in every particular to the coloring you have given to the picture, and at the same time when I take my friend, Mr. McCray, in your midst, I want him to assume part of the responsibility, that is, to what extent we shall enter into the matter. I do not want to take the responsibility of advising him to send 100 head of cattle to Atlanta until he sees your city and meets your people

This is a trip that will make history for Georgia, and we must be careful that every one affiliated with the plans and ideas can at all times reflect upon the matter with pride and pleasure. Bear in mind that I think you have been considerate, courteous and cordial in your treatment, and there is nothing further that I feel warranted in asking you to do except as a matter of justice to yourself and your people that you make an announcement that the greatest Hereford man in the world and the man with the greatest herd in the world, Mr. McCray, will come among your people in April to make good the representations you have made about us.

HAPPENED IN BOSTON.

(From The National Monthly.)

Little Wendell Holmes Emerson, of Boston, was resting sedately with his book in the park shortly after dinner. He had eaten too much. He knew perfectly well he had eaten too much and he was surprised and shocked at himself. He hoped fervently that no one would notice his condition.

Just then a kindly old lady appeared and sat down beside him. "Ah," thought Wendell, "I have sadly injured her esthetic sensibilities.

By this time the kind old lady was firmly settled. "My little boy," said she, "are you over eight?"

It was wonderful to see how the young Mr. Emerson recovered his dignity. That a woman with such outlandish grammar should dare to criticize him was unbelievable. "No, madam," said he, proudly, "I have overeaten."

WAVE MOVES HOUSE FOR HIM.

(Los Angeles Dispatch to The Philadelphia Record.)

C. H. Jennison, of Alamitos Bay, near Long Beach, planned to move his home back twenty feet. Before he started a big storm struck.

A huge breaker picked up the house and moved it back twenty feet, setting it down squarely on the ground so gently that a pail of milk and pot of coffee on the table in the house were not spilled.

Mrs. Jennison and her two children were not in the house at the time.

The house was placed on its new foundations the next day.

A LITTLE PRESSED FOR TIME.

(From The New York Evening Sun.)

A Prussian infantryman was standing guard over a little group of prisoners—a motley lot, including French, English, African Turcos, Gurkhas, Sikhs, and what not. A uhlan came riding by. "Well, well, comrade," cried the uhlan, pulling up his horse and looking over the collection, "well, well, what the devil sort of mixed company is this you're keeping, anyway?"

The infantryman grinned. "Beg pardon, Mr. Uhlan," he said cheerfully, "we are rather mixed, as you say. The fact is, we haven't had time yet to sort 'em out, according to colors."

THE CHOICE.

(Edwin Markham, in Nautilus Magazine.)

On the bough of the rose is the prickling briar;
The delicate lily must live in the mire;
The hues of the butterfly go at a breath;
At the end of the road is the house of death.

Nay, nay, on the briar is the lovely rose;
In the mire of the river the lily blows;
The moth it is fair as a flower of the sod;
At the end of the road is a door to God!

CHAPMAN PICTURES HEAVEN'S BEAUTIES

Says Author of "Pilgrim's Progress," "Jerry" McAuley, and Delia, "The Bluebird of Mulberry Row," Are There.

More Autos Wanted.

Friday afternoon there will be special services at the Chapman-Alexander revival for the aged people in the city. A committee, composed of Mrs. Robert Maddox, chairman; Mrs. Archibald Davis and Mrs. Frank Inman, has been appointed to arrange for the transportation of these old people to the tabernacle.

Last night Mrs. Maddox, through The Constitution, issued an appeal to the auto owners of Atlanta to put their cars at the disposal of the committee for three hours on Friday afternoon—from 2 to 5 o'clock. Owners are requested to have their cars at the tabernacle at 2 o'clock. All who are willing to help this cause are requested to notify Mrs. Maddox at 414 Ivy.

Those who have already volunteered the use of their cars follow: Mesdames J. K. Orr, Joseph Rhodes, Frank Ellis, Preston Arkwright, Henry Jackson, W. H. Kiser, Bryan Grant, Hugh Richardson, Mell Wilkinson, Eugene Black, Thomas Hinman, H. B. Scott, T. O. Jones, E. P. Horton, Joseph Hill, F. M. Robinson, W. E. Martin, Harry Stearns, Thomas Morgan, Edward Inman, Archibald Davis, Frank Inman, J. M. High, Robert Alston, L. R. Montgomery, W. S. Witham, John W. Miller and A. J. Orme, Messrs. E. M. Willingham, Lindsey Hopkins, Thomas J. Peeples, R. C. Thompson, H. S. Courtney and Stewart Witham.

Many more cars are needed. Who will join the honor roll?

There is a dark side in preaching and a brighter side. The Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman emphasized this point in his sermon in the Revival Tabernacle Wednesday night. He said he had been preaching for the last ten days or so on the eternal punishment due to sin and that his sermon topic for the evening would be in direct contrast—the eternal glory awaiting those who repent their sins and acknowledge Christ as their personal Savior.

He took for his text the Scriptural declaration that "the twelve gates were twelve pearls," and around this he pictured the glories of Heaven and the beauties and comforts and amazing wonders that await those who "get right with God." It was a "sermon of joy," as one minister in the front of the Tabernacle declared. Yet it was sufficiently impressive to bring tears to the eyes of men and women and children when the evangelist, after picturing the beauties of the final "home," hurled at his great audience the question:

"Are you going? Are you going?"

People Now in Heaven.

He told of some of the persons he says he knows are in Heaven and among them he mentioned his mother, his father, and Bunyan, who wrote "Pilgrim's Progress," yet who, he said, was so profane that a "lewd woman cried shame after hearing his blasphemies." "Pilgim's Progress," by the way, he referred to as being "next to the New Testament." He spoke of others in Heaven, namely: "Jerry" McAuley, founder of the world-wide missions bearing his name, and Delia, "the bluebird of Mulberry Row," a New York woman who gave up a life of shame and then led sixty other women to Christ.

When the invitation was given at the close of the sermon, nearly 100 men and women and children marched down the aisles, shook his hand and then went into the "inquiry room," where Dr. Chapman gave them a personal talk on salvation. Chief Beavers was an interested listener.

The audience was the largest this week. There were special delegations in reserved seat sections. Among them were 500 railroad office men and their families; 150 business women; 100 members of the Y. M. C. A.; 500 Presbyterian laymen and ministers; delegations from various churches and a number of negro preachers and laymen.

Before the services Dr. Chapman addressed the Presbyterian ministers and laymen at a special service.

Dr. Chapman's sermon last night follows:

"And the twelve gates were twelve pearls"—Revelations 21:21.

"This text is a part of the description of the Eternal City, towards which so many have set their faces and in which they have such absolute confidence and faith. The description, it is true, is a figurative one, but I know this, that if the Bible describes the streets as being paved with gold and the gates as being made of pearl, and the dwelling places as being mansions, it is only because the strongest language is being used and only because the most striking figures are chosen in order to make the believer realize that Heaven in its gates, its streets, its places of abode is so far beyond anything that we have seen here or dreamed of as being possible there. I have seen many of the great cities of the world. I have seen Cairo, Egypt, throbbing with sacred Old Testament memories, with its museums where the mummies of the pharaohs are to be seen, and with its obelisks on which Old Testament patriarchs and prophets looked. I have seen the modern city with its streets thronged with people from Occident and Orient. I have heard the cries of the outrunners as rushing ahead of some splendid equipage they have parted the crowds to allow some person of distinction to pass through. I have seen Paris throbbing with gaiety and life, with its magnificent boulevards, its splendid cathedrals, its far-famed art galleries. I have seen London with almost every street telling a story which is thrilling with its St. Paul's cathedral, the tomb of Chinese Gordon, with its Westminster Abbey, where we find sleeping until the resurrection such men as Livingstone and hosts of others. These cities are all remarkable, but they are dull indeed when placed in comparison with that city whose builder and maker is God, the gates of which are magnificent pearls, and the streets of which are paved with gold. It is a joy to know that such solid figures are used to represent the City of God. Heaven is described as a place and not a state; in which we behold mansions where through eternity we may be in fellowship and in which we may abide. When Jesus ascended not far from Bethany He took with Him His body and men saw Him as He rose higher and higher until the clouds received Him out of their sight. And there must be some place for the resurrected foot and hand, some place for the resurrected body as a whole, and this place is heaven. The Scriptures distinguish three heavens: First, the lower heavens, or the region of the clouds; secondly, the second or planetory heavens, where the stars are set and where the planets are to be found; thirdly, the heaven of heavens, or the abode of God, and it is with this particular heaven that we have to do. It is in that one we shall dwell in His presence and from His presence go out no more forever.

General Lafayette.

"It is said that after the revolutionary war had ended and the country was settling into peace and Lafayette, the great French soldier, who had rendered such invaluable assistance to our country, came back to our shores on a visit. He received a right royal welcome. A specially chartered ship met him outside the harbor and took him in triumph to the landing dock in New York. Men cheered him to the echo as his foot touched our shores. When he entered his carriage they took away the horses and put themselves in their stead and wheeled him in triumph through the streets of the city. He seemed to be unmoved through it all, but when he reached the great building where the address of welcome was to be delivered they threw upon the canvas a beautiful picture of his boyhood home in sunny France, and when he saw this he burst into tears and cried as if his heart would break; and I have thought that possibly in the midst of all our commercialism and materialism and alas in the midst of so much doubt, if I could but paint for you the picture of the City of God, where our final home is to be, that I might touch your emotions and through your emotions lead you to Christ.

What Is Heaven?

"It is true that we may have heaven here. When the Apostle Paul writes his Epistle to the Ephesians he continuously speaks of the heavenlies, and this may be defined as the sphere of the believer's spiritual experience as identified with Christ in nature, in life, in relationship, in service, in suffering and in inheritance. Every believer in Christ is supposed to be a heavenly man and therefore he is a stranger and a pilgrim here upon the earth. This is not his abiding place, but he is in preparation here for that which is to come hereafter. We sometimes quote a verse of Scripture which says: 'But as it is written, eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him,' I. Corinthians 2:9, and quoting this Scripture we find ourselves saying: 'The future is full of mystery and we cannot know.' But if you would only think to quote the tenth verse of this same chapter which reads: 'But God hath revealed them unto us by His Spirit; for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God,' we would realize that we may know concerning the hereafter.

Sir Oliver Lodge.

"Sir Oliver Lodge as a scientist recently made the statement in his annual address at Birmingham, England, that the hereafter could be scientifically proved, and that he was expecting that sooner or later we might have some direct communication with those who had passed on before. How many hints there are in the Scriptures regarding the future. Heaven is a place of brightness. Everything that ever came from that city was bright and beautiful. The ladder let down from the skies to Jacob's pillow was like a shaft of heavenly light; the chariot with its steeds waiting to take Elijah to the skies was like burning fire. The angels performing their heavenly ministries were too beautiful to be described. Moses and Elias stand with Christ upon the Mount of Transfiguration, and with the everyday dress of heaven upon them their garments glisten and glow. Their faces shine, while the streets are gold and the gates are pearl. It is a place where the redeemed dwell.

"It is said that pearl fishers secure the best of pearl when they dive the deepest. It is also true that from the greatest depths of sin God has rescued some of His most precious jewels. Saul of Tarsus was transfigured until he was Paul the Apostle. John Bunyan was so profane that a lewd woman put her hands on his lips, and said, 'Shame on you;' and he was transformed until he writes a book second only to the New Testament in power. Jerry McAuley, a river thief, spending three terms in Sing Sing prison, was transformed until he is called New York's greatest citizen; and these all are in that city joining the song of Moses and the Lamb. Heaven is a place of sweetness; its song is beautiful; the theme of it is redemption; the inspiration of it will be the Redeemer Himself. It is said that the streets of the city are to be filled with boys and girls. This is enough. One little child in a home makes it like heaven. A group of children around the fireside—who can paint the beauty of it? A chorus of children, where can we hear such music; but heaven full of children, who can describe it?

"'Oh, the joys that are there mortal eye
hath not seen,
Oh, the songs they sing there with hosannas between;
Oh, the thrice blessed song of the Lamb,
and of Moses,
Oh, the white tents of peace where the rapt
soul reposes;
Oh, the waters so still and the pastures between,
There they sing songs with hosannas between.'

"Heaven is a place where we know as we are known, and that makes it heaven. Life is full of mysteries. We are always asking why, and too often we have no answer. We do not know why we should suffer and others go free. Some day we shall know, and just to know is heaven.

"'What is heaven?' I asked a little child;
All joy, and in her innocence she smiled;
I asked the aged with her cane oppressed;
All suffering o'er, heaven at last is rest.
I asked the artist who adored his art;
Heaven is all beauty, spoke his raptured heart.
I asked the Christian waiting his release;
A halo round him, lo, he murmured, Peace.
So all may look with hopeful eyes above;
'Tis beauty, glory, joy, rest, peace and love.'

"God cannot now tell us the meaning of our lives. Time is too short. Eternity will be hardly long enough.

A Blind Boy.

"A little boy was taken in his blindness to a great hospital in a city, and the skillful surgeon operating upon his eyes, shut since birth, turned excitedly to his anxious parents and said, 'This child will surely see.' They bandaged his eyes and then removing the bandages as time passed on, they came to the last and finally took it off, and sure enough he was able to see. He gazed in wonder about the room, at his father's form and in his mother's face, and when he could stand it, she took him to the door where he could see the beauties of nature about him. He looked a moment, then burst into tears and said, 'Mother, why didn't you tell me all about it?' and she said, 'I tried, my child, but I could not. But some day God will tell us all, and when He tells us all, we will understand.'

The Gates.

"There must be some special way into the city. We pass through the gates, and there must be some special way by means of which we reach heaven. He describes it by saying, 'I am the way,' and if we do not take Him the gates are shut, while they are wide open if we but accept Him.

"A pearl holds in its circumference the story of suffering. The foreign substance gets into the shell and begins its work of irritation, and around the foreign substance is thrown an element which forms into a pearl. I think the gates must be of pearl because of His sufferings. He lived a life of sorrow, endured agony indescribable. He died of a broken heart upon the cross and because of this the gates are open now. The gate is a place of meeting.

A Dying Boy.

"Some years ago an old man listened to my message and came to me with tears to say, 'Twenty years ago I had to tell my boy that he was dying. He told me that he would not be afraid if his mother could go with him or if I could go, but I told him that we could not. I bowed in prayer with him and read him the Twenty-third Psalm, and when I rose, with smiling face he said, 'Never mind, father, I shall be waiting at the gate for you, and I will greet you first when you pass through.' And there is someone there for you, too—your mother, your wife, your child. It would be an awful, awful pity if they had to wait in vain.

Twelve Gates.

"There are twelve gates in the city. It lies four square, and there are three gates on each side. We may come in from any direction. We may pass through from any evangelical denomination, but when we finally enter God's presence it will be through the gate, and the gate is Christ. That gate swings open now, held by God's own hand. At every tick of the clock a soul goes into eternity; they who are saved to be with Him, and they who have rejected Him to be lost. I should like to go as Livingstone when in the heart of Africa. He was on his knees, and when they entered his tent, he was dead. He had gone praying. Heaven is just to see Christ. The golden streets, the many mansions, the pearly gates; these do not impress me so much as the thought that I shall meet Him. I long to see those whom I have loved and who have gone before, but there is something better.

A Blind Man.

"A blind man was introduced on the streets of Paris to a skillful surgeon, who said to him, 'I believe I could make you see,' and in time he did. The operation is over, his sight has been restored, when just before the bandage was removed the attendant said, 'Now, whom would you like to see first?' And he said, 'Let me see my father and my child. I have never seen them except with my finger tips;' and they started to bring them, when he called out and said, 'No, no, I am wrong; I would like first of all to see the doctor; let me see the one who gave me sight; let me see him first and others afterwards.' And so I think it would be then. Golden streets, yes. Pearly gates, yes. Beloved friends, yes. But oh, to see the One who lived and loved and died of a broken heart that I might live through an unending eternity in perfect joy."

WIFE GETS THE FINE FOR SLAP IN FACE BY JUDGE'S RULING

Here is literally the conversation that took place in a case in police court Wednesday afternoon when Robert Brown, an honest and hard-working negro, was tried for slapping his wife:

The wife: "Bob came home and because I forgot to make tea for his supper, he said, 'If you don't make tea, I'll slap your face.' I 'lowed, 'Slap my face if you think you can do it,' and then he upped and slapped it. Then I took hold of him and because he was too limber drunk to have any real fight in him, I threw him down and gave him a whipping."

Robert Brown: "That's the truth, judge. When I got off from work a fellow gave me a drink of something that he said was corn liquor, and it was doped, and the one drink run me so crazy that when I went home I was fool enough to slap my wife."

The recorder: "Have you any money with which to pay a fine?"

Robert Brown: "Just got the one dollar downstairs that the police took off of me last night."

The recorder: "You are too good a negro and you work too hard for me to fine you. Go and get your dollar and give it to your wife for the slap."

Judge Makes Father Pay Fine Imposed Upon the Stepson

Rev. Zeke Robertson, a Darktown parson who grades and sods yards during the week and preaches on Sunday, was in the police court Wednesday afternoon to prosecute his stepson, Clarence Robertson, because he was afraid of him.

Clarence Robertson was in court to prosecute his stepfather because he was afraid of him.

"I'se jest afeerd dat dat boy's gwine ter git me whilst I'se sleepin' some night," stated the old man.

"An' I'se scared that the old man is going to do me up when I am sleeping," stated the stepson.

"This is a kind of double scare," remarked Recorder Johnson. "I am going to fine the boy $3.75 and make the old man pay it. That, I think, will fix both parties and get them over their mutual scare."

THREE OLD LADIES DIE AT HOMES IN MARIETTA

Marietta, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—Marietta had three deaths Monday night and yesterday among the older ladies of the city. Mrs. H. C. McCollum died Monday and her remains were taken today to Alpharetta for burial.

Mrs. Doss Delka, a very elderly lady, died Monday evening and was buried Tuesday afternoon at Sardis, a country burial ground six miles east of Marietta.

Mrs. A. M. Neese died Tuesday morning. She, too, was very old, being about 80 years of age. Her funeral occurred from the residence on Powder Springs street Wednesday afternoon, and the interment was in the city cemetery here.

The Treatment of Influenza or La Grippe

It is quite refreshing these days to read of a clearly defined treatment for Influenza or La Grippe. In an article in the "Lancet-Clinic," Dr. James Bell, of New York City, says he is convinced that too much medication is both unnecessary and injurious.

When called to a case of la grippe, the patient is usually seen when the fever is present, as the chill which occasionally ushers in the disease, has generally passed away. Dr. Bell then orders that the bowels be opened freely with salts, "Actoids" or citrate of magnesia. For the high fever, severe headache, pain and general soreness, one Anti-kamnia Tablet every three hours is quickly followed by complete relief. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headache, neuralgia and all pains.

SAYS BANKING METHODS SHOULD BE IMPROVED

O. Howard Wolfe, President of New York Bankers, Talks of Reserve Act.

O. Howard Wolfe, president of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Banking and secretary of the clearing house section of the institute, addressed a large number of business men at the chamber of commerce last evening on "Some Changes Under the Federal Reserve Act."

He spoke of the operations of the federal reserve act and the regional banks, and said that those to whom the banks were very near could not see the result of the operations as well as those who were at some distance.

"A too close observation," he said, "obscures in a great measure our perception."

He said there were three great fundamental principles in the federal reserve act: first, concentration of bank reserves; second, the establishment of banks of rediscount; third, a scientific system of bank-note issue.

Many of the necessary changes in the act, he stated, could be brought about by amendments to the original acts creating the national bank.

"We need," he said, "a better system of bank examinations, a wider latitude for the making of investments and a more scientific system for check collection.

"The greatest and most beneficial result," he continued, "of the federal reserve act will be the effect it will have on our bankers. The bankers of this country are far behind, when it comes to scientific methods, the bankers of Europe. They are backward except as to credit and accounting. We need a system that will be world-wide and that will follow some of the business methods of Europe."

Mr. Wolfe came to Atlanta from Knoxville, where he made a similar talk on the banking laws. He goes from Atlanta to Roanoke to speak to the business men of that city.

NEW GERMAN TENOR INSTEAD OF BERGER IN THE MAGIC FLUTE

The death of Rudolf Berger, one of the principal tenors of the Metropolitan Opera company, will not in any way affect the Atlanta program.

Berger was to have appeared only in one opera in Atlanta this season—"The Magic Flute"—and his role in that opera will be filled by Johannes Sembach, the new lyric German tenor who has made a big impression this winter in New York.

Upon the death of Mr. Berger, telegrams were exchanged between the Atlanta Music Festival association and the Metropolitan Opera company, and the Atlanta association is in a position to announce authoritatively that Mr. Berger's death will cause no change in the repertoire.

HOME OF POLICEMAN ENTERED BY BURGLAR

Howard Wright, a negro, 14 years old, entered 163 Courtland street and inspected the building. Citizens on the street who did not like his actions seized him and called for the police. There were found upon him a pair of gold cuff buttons, a lavalliere and $1.10 in change. The negro admitted his guilt when told that he had burglarized the home of J. D. Freeman, a city policeman.

Negroes Held as Burglars.

Robert Marable and Aubrey Foster, the two negro youths who were caught after trying to rob the residence of E. W. Smith, 408 Courtland street, were tried in the police court Wednesday afternoon and held in bonds of $300 each for burglary. Marable was shot by Mr. Smith, and was at the Grady hospital to get his wound dressed when he and Foster were caught.

A Case Right Here in Atlanta

Mrs. William Adams, 381 E. Georgia avenue, Atlanta, says: "While doing some housework I began to suffer from pain across my back and in my shoulders, and after that my work tired me so that I had to sit down and rest. Now and then I had blinding spells, and everything in front of me turned black. I was bothered by headaches, too. Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured me."

BUSINESS CONDITIONS ARE BETTER IN SOUTH

Reviving Faster Here Than in East or West, Says Head of Hibernians.

Business is reviving faster in the south than in either the east or the middle west, according to the statement of Joseph McLaughlin, of Philadelphia, national president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, who registered at the Piedmont yesterday after an extensive tour of the middle west and the south.

"During the last several weeks," said Mr. McLaughlin, "I have had occasion and have made it a point to observe the business conditions in various sections of the United States in which I have been traveling. I live in Philadelphia. I have just made a several weeks' tour covering much of the territory of practically every state in the middle west. I come to Atlanta after having visited Richmond, Charleston, Augusta, Savannah, Jacksonville, Pensacola, Mobile, Montgomery and Birmingham. Everywhere I have made a study of conditions, and from what I have seen in the south I am forced to the conclusion that business is reviving more rapidly in the south than in either of the other two sections I have mentioned.

"It is true that perhaps the business enterprises in the south in the majority of instances may not be so large as those of the east or the middle west, but that does not prevent my statement holding good on a comparative scale.

"I find the southern people optimistic, and I find everywhere an air of business and the actual fact of business being conducted in a progressive manner."

Mr. McLaughlin arrived in Atlanta Wednesday morning, and Wednesday afternoon was the guest of local Hibernians on a tour of the city and Fulton county.

He was the honor guest at a reception and smoker in the Hibernian hall, on South Pryor street, last night. He delivered an address to the Hibernians at night on the growth of the order throughout the country. His report was very pleasing.

THE WINDOW LOOK IN

What We Pay

Some folks think we're given franchises scot free and the public gets no benefit. You've heard that from time to time.

HERE'S WHERE WE SET IT RIGHT.

In 1914 we paid in taxes on NOTHING BUT FRANCHISES of the Georgia Railway and Electric Company, $113,939. That went to the state, the county, Atlanta, East Point, College Park, Decatur, Kirkwood, Hapeville, Oakhurst and Fulton county school district.

A franchise is the public's formal permit to do business. It's counted as of no value when we would base rates on it. BUT YOU SEE WE PAY TAXES ON IT. Atlanta got $50,176 of that total last year. It got $35,413 more—its share of the trolley's gross revenue. It got $63,312 more, property tax on the trolley system. Total $149,000. GOOD RENT, isn't it? We paid about $100,000 for street pavements. We gave the city outright no less than $25,000 worth of street car rides.

We gave $17,500 to the widening of Marietta street, and spent $86,000 besides in rebuilding our track. Just the other day we gave $2,400 worth of crushed rock to the repaving of Pryor street.

We've contributed to EVERY MOVEMENT FOR THE GENERAL PUBLIC ADVANCEMENT in amounts considered liberal by the public representatives raising the funds. We're not bragging, mind you; just pegging down a few facts.

Do you get no benefit from our success?

WHY, IT'S PARTLY YOUR OWN.

Matchless Art of Arliss Wins Audience at Atlanta

By Ned McIntosh.

George Arliss, in "Disraeli," scored a tremendous hit at the Atlanta theater last night.

This was the first appearance of Mr. Arliss in Atlanta, and many Atlanta theatergoers were not acquainted with him except by his reputation. But, after last night, Atlanta will remember George Arliss for a very long time and most pleasantly.

At the close of the third act, Mr. Arliss was given an ovation such as has hardly been seen in Atlanta since last opera week. The applause lasted several minutes, and Mr. Arliss had to appear half a dozen times.

The finished acting of Mr. Arliss, vibrant with his own interesting personality, was most absorbing. Surprising at all times, often almost eccentric, his portrayal of the great "Dizzy" was above all convincing.

Disraeli, Not Arliss.

Mr. Arliss made his audience last night forget George Arliss, all the pictures they had ever seen of him, and all the words they had ever read about him. After the first short moment of satisfying one's curiosity about an actor one has never seen before, one sees only Disraeli, breathing, walking, talking,—living! It is not any portrayal of supreme emotion, except, perhaps, just before the curtain of the last act, that one remembers, but just a quiet, powerful gripping personality—the personalities of both Arliss and Disraeli—that steals out across the footlights permeates the audience and drugs it into believing that it is gazing upon reality.

Seldom does the voice of Mr. Arliss rise above the tone of ordinary conversation—just a continual change of momentary, almost whimsical, moods portrayed in masterly fashion, the brilliant rendering of brilliant lines, and frequently the mere gesture carrying a whole situation vividly to the minds of the audience. But two really great emotional moments are portrayed by Mr. Arliss—one when he finds his dreams crumbling about his ears in the wreck of Myers' bank, and the other when he believes the woman for whose glory he has fought has died in the moment of its realization. The latter forms a wonderfully brilliant climax to the play and is brought to a point of terrific tenseness by Mr. Arliss' acting.

Most Capable Company.

However, the mantle of success cannot rest entirely upon the shoulders of Mr. Arliss in the production of "Disraeli." Atlanta has not seen a show in a great while with a more capable supporting company. There is no member of the cast who strikes a jarring note.

It is possible, though, to make mention of but a few. Margaret Dale, as Mrs. Noel Travers, the Russian spy and adventuress, crafty, scheming, velvet-voiced, as soft, beautiful, alluringly clad and just as treacherous as a leopard, lends an indescribable piquancy to the play. Ernita Lascelles is altogether charming comedienne. Arthur Eldred plays a rather difficult English nobleman with great success.

Mrs. Arliss, while her role is not nearly so heavy as that of Mr. Arliss, is not less pleasing than Mr. Arliss himself.

The settings and the costumes of the show are entirely in keeping with the high standard set by the company.

The fourth and last act, for instance, is very gorgeous and impressive, and gives an opportunity for the display of costumes of the period, which is taken advantage of in a most satisfying manner.

The story is of the great English statesman's winning of the Suez canal for his country against tremendous odds, consisting largely of the machinations of Russian spies, and of how he accomplishes his ambition of reflecting great honor upon his wife and, at the same time, acting as matchmaker as a pastime.

If you like a good show, you cannot afford to miss "Disraeli." It will be seen at the Atlanta tonight, Friday and Saturday nights, with Saturday matinee.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

The bill of vaudeville at the Forsyth this week is one of the cleverest that has been brought to the busy theater. It is full of surprisingly good features and it is winning applause from every crowded audience. The Primrose Four, "1,000 Pounds of Harmony," scores the hit of the bill in a singing specialty that never grows dull. Hermine Shone and company, presenting "The Last of the Quakers," is an act with a big value. Miss Shone is a pretty girl and her act is a magnificent offering. Harry Cooper, the headliner, is a fine comedian. He has a style of his own and it is being accepted as one of the strong features of the week. All the other acts are worth while and the Forsyth is being crowded at every performance.

"Hypocrites."

(At the Lyric.)

"Hypocrites," the wonderful picture-play drama that is on at the Lyric this week, is attracting unusual interest. The production is presented at matinee and evening performances—3 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. Twenty-five cents for the best seat; all seats reserved. Attendance has been growing and there is a heavy advance reservation for the rest of the week. A great many theater parties have been booked and the fact that this wonderful picture is being offered at the Lyric for much less than is charged in New York and the larger cities gives local folks a bargain.

"Hypocrites" deals with life. It is a remarkable picture. It is perhaps the most daring subject that has ever been put on a screen.

Miss Billie Burke in "Jerry."

(At the Atlanta.)

Miss Billie Burke, with a splendid supporting company, that includes Shelley Hull, Selene Johnson, Alice John and Thomas Reynolds—all players of talent and experience—comes to the Atlanta Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with a Wednesday matinee, to present her latest and greatest comedy success, "Jerry." This is the piece in which Miss Burke won a triumph at the Lyceum theater, New York, last spring. She impersonates a particularly adorable and mischievous young Chicago girl who plays pranks on her serious-minded Philadelphia relatives, wears pink pajamas and wins a husband all in the course of three merry acts chock-full of amusing complications and witty dialogue. The role, it is said, shows the charming actress at her most delightful best. Seats go on sale this morning at 9 o'clock.

FLOYD CUTS EXPENSE OF PRISONERS' FOOD

Spring Time—Remember Is Blood Cleaning Time

Entire System is Clogged—Great Hordes of Germs Congest the Blood to Cause Pimples, Boils, Carbuncles, Eczema and Other Skin Diseases.

S. S. S. Gives You Backbone, Nerve Strength with Pure, Invigorated Blood.

If you feel thick-headed, legs a-weary, tire easily and feel utterly used up your blood needs a bath.

It is astonishing how quickly you brace up after using S. S. S. After the long nights of winter have slowed you down, made your blood sluggish, and filled your system with the cramps, aches and acids of thick, stagnant blood you actually require the influence of S. S. S.

Eczema, rash, pimples, tetter, boils, and all impurities in the blood are quickly washed out by the remarkable action of S. S. S. It is in the nature of a bath for your blood. It is not a "dope," not a "physic," there is not a drop of harmful mineral drugs. It is a far better friend to your nerves than any "nervine" you can use because it is just as pure as the gruel you would feed to an invalid. The blood takes kindly to S. S. S., it doesn't bother your stomach but it does give you strength.

Rheumatism, catarrh, malaria, bronchitis, typhoid and all such painful or dangerous maladies cannot remain in a system washed and cleansed by the remarkable action of S. S. S.

There is scarcely a drug store or general store any where but what keeps S. S. S. in stock. It is prepared in one of the world's best and largest laboratories and has maintained the health of a host of people who use it every spring and fall because it gives them a feeling of renewed strength, puts the look of health in the eye and prints the flesh with the ruddy glow of health.

The human body, like the habitation of man, is closed all winter and becomes clogged with stagnant impurities. In the spring nature attempts to overhaul the blood and thus we see pimples, boils, carbuncles and various skin afflictions breaking out to relieve the congestion within.

The remarkable manner in which S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, clears the system is a most interesting study. It sweeps its way into the blood stream; flushes every artery, vein and capillary; awakens functional activity and causes a wonderful animation throughout.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating the myriad of cells to the healthy and judicious selection of their own essential nutriment.

And if, from the presence of some disturbing poison a condition of eruptive disease is set up, S. S. S. so directs the action of the local cells that the poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

Thus, when the cells break down to cause the formation of carbuncles, S. S. S. so stimulates cellular activity that new and healthy materials are rapidly supplied and eruptions cease. The same is true of mucous inflammations, of acid accretions and all those influences which cause rheumatism, catarrh, eczema, lupus, psoriasis, tetter, etc. The action of S. S. S. in effect is like giving the entire blood supply a good bath.

The medicinal properties of S. S. S. are relatively just as vital and essential to well balanced health as the food components of the grains, meats, fats and sugars.

And of one thing you may be certain there is not an atom of mercury, calomel, blue mass, iodide of potash or arsenic; nor does S. S. S. contain any other mineral. It is a pure vegetable medicine and wonderfully acceptable to even a very weak stomach.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. from any druggist and note how quickly it puts your blood in fine condition. It is just what you need, a fine, bracing, purifying medicine that is sure to do you a world of good. And if you are troubled with some stubborn form of blood disease, write to the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 136 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga., for free private advice.

JITNEY BUSES WILL CAUSE COUNCIL FIGHT

Lindsey Hopkins Voices Protest Against Ordinance of Councilman Lee.

Announcement yesterday that Councilman Jesse B. Lee has introduced an ordinance regulating the operation of jitney buses in Atlanta has created unusual interest in the meeting of the electric and railways committee, which is scheduled to meet this afternoon. Both sides, it is understood, will be represented at the meeting, and it is stated that the measure will be strenuously opposed.

The ordinance provides that for each bus of five passengers the operators must pay an annual license of $100, and $150 for each larger car. Councilman Lee says that the license will make it certain that the individuals and corporations who operate buses will pay their just share of the repair of streets. The Lee law also requires that a bond of $10,000 shall be given for two cars, and $20,000 for more than two cars.

It also requires that the cars shall be regularly inspected, and as a precaution against cars blocking traffic, the ordinance stipulates that they shall not be allowed to stop between corners. Reports must be made by operators showing the qualifications of the drivers.

The most stringent provision of the ordinance is that which requires the company or individual operating buses to secure a franchise for the privilege.

Hopkins Opposes Ordinance.

The proposed legislation is characterized by Lindsey Hopkins, a well-known business man engaged for several years in the motor business, as "class legislation."

"The jitney bus is a new method of transportation of passengers and is the greatest saver of time to the business man that has been inaugurated in many years," said Mr. Hopkins. "It will give the busy man time after work for either rest or play. From reports received from many cities in which the jitney bus has been tried, the people have expressed themselves as highly pleased with the new transportation. It is passing strange that any prohibitory measure should be adopted by any city which will prevent the operation of the jitney bus.

"If I am correctly informed as to the proposed legislation, the paying of a $100 license for autos in the jitney bus service, if a car costs $500, will be tantamount to making the operators pay 20 per cent on the original investment as a license for each car operated.

"I am not in the jitney bus business and at this time I have no immediate intention of getting into the business, but the motor car dealers of the city have expressed themselves as a unit in regarding the proposed measure with surprise and distrust, if not with suspicion. Public expression is in favor of the jitney bus. Such a law as proposed will abridge the rights of the people and, as a piece of class legislation, will surpass anything that has ever been attempted in this city."

Twenty-six Pupils of the Southern secure good positions during the past three weeks.

Do you want a position?

If so, you should follow the example of others who are finishing their courses at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, and every day are walking out into nice positions.

Twenty-six pupils of this popular school have secured places within the past three weeks. In addition to the twenty-two referred to last week, the following pupils were placed on Monday of this week:

Miss Tinie Mae Goode, with Manos Bros.; Mr. Reuben Jones, with J. L. Riley Insurance company; Miss Mamie Pelot, with McCall Drug company.

Miss Vassie Pritchard, of Westminster, S. C., a short time ago finished the shorthand course in three months and she is now stenographer for the Westminster Oil and Fertilizer company. Miss Pritchard was a conscientious and diligent student, therefore, made fine progress and is now reaping the reward of faithfulness. The Southern has just received the following letter from her:

Westminster, S. C., Feb. 22, 1915.
Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen: I haven't forgotten the dear old Southern. I think of it daily and of all the teachers. Really, I think you have one of the BEST schools of the kind, and what goes to make it the best are the efficient teachers. If pupils go away unprepared, the fault is theirs, for you all certainly do your part.

"I have been working for the Westminster Oil mill since my return. I like the place fine and like the work.

"I trust your school is meeting with unbounded success. I shall ever recommend it as the best school for a Business Education.

"Very respectfully,
"VASSIE E. PRITCHARD."

"If you WANT TO SECURE A POSITION IN ATLANTA, you had better take your course at the Southern," said a graduate of another Atlanta business school to a prospective pupil who was making inquiry last week about the business colleges in this section. The young man at once entered the Southern.

MISS VASSIE PRITCHARD,
Stenographer for the Westminster Oil and Fertilizer Company, after a three months' course at the Southern Shorthand and Business University.

The other day a prominent firm in Atlanta advertised for a steno-bookkeeper. The firm examined TWENTY out of fifty applications received, all of whom were incompetent. The manager then phoned to the Southern and a young man was taken who has "made good."

Just be able to say that you're from the "Southern" when applying for a position. It's the best recommendation you could have, and secures the job.

Spring term now opening. Enter with the others now enrolling. Catalogue free.

INFIELD IS READY FOR THE CRACKERS

Bill Smith Will Finish Work on Rest of the Field by Saturday.

Manager Bill Smith returned from Ponce de Leon yesterday afternoon all smiles. He completed the work on his infield and it is now ready for the Crackers to scamper over next week.

Bill will work on the rest of the field for the remainder of this week and with a continuance of good weather until Saturday Ponce de Leon will be in even better shape than it was before the sewer was laid through it.

AUGUSTA CLUB WILL BEGIN WORK ON NEXT MONDAY

Augusta, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—Manager Dudley, of the local Sally team, has not yet arrived, but is expected within the next few days, and the first of his pitchers will report on Monday, March 8.

Outfielder Smith, who distinguished himself on the mound in Savannah and Jacksonville last season, has aspirations as a pitcher, and Dudley will give him an opportunity to make good.

Winchell and Stone will be back, and possibly Neyenhouse. Barker will not be taken on as a twirler again, but if the youngsters on the string fail to make good at first base, Barker will likely be called back for that position. The return of Shaw is also an interesting possibility.

Should the locals be able to start the season with Shaw, Smith and Burgess in the outer garden, there would be great rejoicing among the local fans.

SIX DUBLIN BOYS WITH ATHLETIC PINS

Six boys, pupils of the Dublin public schools, are winners of the athletic pins for the school boys of the state, which are awarded for excellence in athletics by The Constitution, under the auspices of the state high school association.

Manning Stanley won a silver pin and Allen Wines, Lawton Davis, Joe Colley, Whittley Langston and Melvin Chumley are the winners of the bronze pins.

The pins have been forwarded for distribution.

DUBLIN MAN PRAISES CONSTITUTION'S WORK

The Constitution is receiving praise from all over the state regarding the work that is being done to boost athletics among the school boys of the state.

In a recent letter, W. T. Garrett, superintendent of the public schols at Dublin, Ga., says in part: "I want to congratulate you heartily for your work for the boys. I know of nothing that has been done for the boys which has helped more."

PITTSBURG FEDERALS START THEIR WORK

Augusta, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—Manager Rebel Oakes and his Pittsburg Federals, have started spring training here. The men signed by the Pittsfeds for 1915 include some very prominent men, and are as follows:

Knetzer, Camnitz, Barger, Wickson, Le Clair, Perritt, Hearne, Allen, pitchers; Berry, O'Connor, catchers; Konetchy, Bradley, Rheam, first base; Lewis, second base; Lennox, Austin, third base; Yerkes, Holly, Berghammer, sortstop; Jones, Savage, Menosky, Mattis, Delehanty, outfielders.

Championship Prep Game Today

A Cracker a Day for Fans
8. D. T. BOWDEN.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Under this head The Constitution will carry daily a short story, introducing to Atlanta fandom the players who will receive tryouts with the locals this spring. Their record, history, etc., will be given in brief, concise form.

David Timeon Bowden is one of the few native Georgians who will receive a tryout with the Crackers this spring. Bowden is trying for a berth in the Cracker outfield.

Bowden needs no introduction to local fans. He is remembered from his days as a member of the University of Georgia nine. He afterwards played in the Georgia State league, and later with Macon, in the Sally league.

Bowden comes to the Crackers from the St. Louis Browns, by whom he was purchased from the Macon team.

Bowden has only been in professional baseball two seasons, playing with Cordele and then with Macon. He got his first experience as a baseball player with Locust Grove institute and later with the University of Georgia.

Bowden is only 23 years of age, and will celebrate his twenty-fourth birthday on August 15. He was born at McDonough, Ga., where he makes his home. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds.

He bats left-handed, but throws ight-handed. Last year, with Macon, he hit .317, fielded .974, stole 36 bases and scored 79 runs, all of this record being made in 101 games.

Those in position to know believe that the former Red and Black star will make a regular with the Crackers, and he will find one of his former teammates, Carl Thompson, already a member of the Crackers.

Southern Golf Championship At East Lake June 15 to 19

The golf tournament for the championship of the Southern Golf association will be held on the course of the Atlanta Athletic club at East Lake, June 15 to 19.

This was determined at a conference held between President Smith, of the Southern Golf association, and George W. Adair, of this city.

Mr. Adair also announced last night that the tentative program and schedule of other events in the south was mapped out, and that Mr. Smith would submit these to all the clubs in the association before giving them to the public.

It is believed that the schedule will be announced within a week.

SAVANNAH DECIDES SHE WANTS BASEBALL

Savannah, Ga., March 3.—Baseball for Savannah this season is now an assured fact. The management of the Savannah ball club announced today the funds being collected to underwrite the club are in sight and the retention of the franchise in the South Atlantic league is a certainty. At a meeting of the funds committee and stockholders last night it was announced that enough funds had been pledged to place the club on its feet for another season.

FULTON BASKETBALL LEAGUE WILL CLOSE

CLUB STANDING.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
S. V. D.	7	1	.875
Wesley	6	2	.750
Decatur Boy Scouts	3	5	.375
W. O. Athletic Club	0	8	.000

The final game of the Fulton Basketball league will be played Saturday night on the Wesley Memorial court, Wesley and S. V. D. tying up in the deciding contest.

At present, S. V. D. is leading the teams, being a full game ahead of Wesley. Wesley, by winning, will be tied with the leaders, making another game necessary to determine the final winners. Decatur and W. O. A. C. will also play then, but this game will have no bearing on the final standing of the clubs.

The odds on the contest are slightly in favor of S. V. D. This bunch has defeated Wesley twice in the past, and intend to make it three in a row. Wesley, on the other hand, has bolstered their team by the addition of Dodge and Lowry, two crack prep league players, and intend to reverse the count on them Saturday.

The game will start at 7:45, and a small admission fee of 10 cents will be charged.

SHERWOOD MAGEE IS HURT IN PRACTICE

Macon, Ga., March 3.—Sherwood Magee, former captain of the Phillies, who was purchased by the Boston Nationals for the season of 1915, and who was considered the timeliest hitter in the National league last year, was hurt here this afternoon and may be out of the game for some time. Magee was in tears at the clubhouse after his injury.

Otto Hess was batting flies to the outfield and dropped a Texas leaguer back of third base. Magee ran in on the ball and made a spectacular catch, falling as he gathered in the ball. He struck on his right shoulder and rolled over and over. Rising to his feet, he was unable to move his arm.

Doctors say that a tendon has been torn loose.

JAMES TO PLAY ONLY WITH BOSTON CLUB

Macon, Ga., March 3.—Officials of the Boston club say that Pitcher James must play with the Boston team if at all. Manager Stallings dictated the following statement:

"James' contract was made at his own solicitation and has two years to run with the Boston club. It was made in the presence of witnesses at James' own request. He dictated the terms of the contract and insisted upon the ten-day clause being eliminated and stated before witnesses that if he received the figure of his contract he would be satisfied for the rest of his life. There could be no deceptive information, for the Federal league was not mentioned during the execution of the contract."

DOTHAN DEFINITELY CLOSES PURCHASE

President Dick Jemison, of the Georgia State league, received a wire from the fans of Dothan, Ala., last night advising him that he could consider the deal for Cordele's franchise closed.

The Dothan fans advised, also, that they wanted President Jemison to make a trip to Dothan in person to close the deal for the actual transfer.

Mr. Jemison will make the trip to Dothan to wind up the transfer either today or Friday, and then Dothan will be a full-fledged member of the Georgia State league.

Thomasville's Case.

The status of the Thomasville club, which is also a little bit doubtful, will also be decided today. The fans of Thomasville are going to hold a mass meeting today to determine whether or not they will retail their franchise.

In the event that they determine not to stay in the league, there are several cities that are bidding for their franchise, and the present Thomasville owners will, in the event the fans there do not show the proper spirit, authorize President Jemison to sell.

Determine Title Holder of the City Prep Fives Today

After twice postponing the game, Marist and Donald Fraser, barring further mishaps, will this afternoon, on the Donald Fraser court in Decatur, play the final game of the local prep basketball league.

This game will be very important, inasmuch as it will have direct bearing on the final ranking of the two clubs. A victory for Marist will tie them with Boys' High for the pennant, making a post-season game necessary to determine the rag-winner, while if Donald Fraser wins, Boys' High will get the pennant, while the Decatur lads will be tied with Tech High for third place.

Both teams have been practicing hard for the game, and will enter in good condition, with the determination of winning.

The contest will start at 3:30, and an admission fee of 25 cents will be charged.

HANS WAGNER SIGNS.

Pirates' Shortstop Signs His Sixteenth Contract.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 3.—Honus Wagner, the veteran shortstop, signed his 1915 contract with the Pittsburg National league baseball club here today. The contract, which calls for $10,000 per year, was the sixteenth he has made with the local club. Twenty-five Pirates will leave Saturday night for Dawson, Ky., for spring training.

Dr. Fisher also announced while in Atlanta that the boys would be eligible to compete in this world-wide event and since some of Atlanta's best athletes are in the boys' division they are expected to help out a great deal when this event is run off.

GONE IS SUNSHINE; RAIN COMES TODAY, SAYS FORECASTER

Atlantans have enjoyed most pleasant weather for this time of the year, and now must pay the price! There will be rain today, if the prediction of the weather man holds good.

Since Monday the community has been all sunshine. Spring itself could have been no more benevolent. Now the time has come to pay up.

Clouds began to gather at nightfall and the stars that glimmered so brightly for the previous nights grew dim behind the clouds, an ominous sign for today. It will be warmer, too, says the forecaster.

ANNIE LOWERY RESCUED.

Mother Saves Little Daughter When Dress Blazes.

Macon, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—Nine-year-old Annie Battle Lowery was severely burned here today when her clothing caught fire from a heater, and her mother, Mrs. T. S. Lowery, Jr., of Clisby Place, had her hands and arms badly burned in extinguishing the child's burning clothing. Only the presence of mind of the mother saved the child's life. The latter's burns were confined mostly to one side of the body.

DROVE "BORROWED" TEAM ACROSS ALA. LINE

Rome, Ga., March 3.—(Special.)—George Planter, a white man of Rome, is in the city jail charged with attempted larceny from W. H. Mitchell, a local contractor. Planter acquired a team of mules and a wagon from the contractor on the ground that he wished to do a little grading in the fifth ward. The team was accompanied by a negro driver, who succeeded in getting word to police officers when Planter drove the team across the state line into Alabama. He was arersted, a requisition was secured from the Alabama governor, and Planter was brought back to this city for trial.

LEE KENNEDY ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF WIFE

Sandersville, Ga., March 3.—(Special.) The trial of Lee Kennedy, charged with the murder of his wife in Emanuel county in November, 1911, was placed on trial here at 2 o'clock this afternoon, a change of venue having been granted him on account of high feeling in his home county. Judge R. N. Hardeman, newly elected judge of the middle circuit, presided. Four panels of jurors were called, and after an hour's examination twelve men were chosen, and at 3:15 o'clock the state began its examination. The first witness was Dr. George Smith, who attended Mrs. Kennedy after the fatal shooting and brutal beating. He was followed by three other witnesses, after which court adjourned until Thursday morning.

Over thirty-five witnesses from Emanuel are here, besides a large number of spectators. The courtroom has been packed all day. Judge Hardeman stopped court to see that all were seated.

Kennedy was brought here from Savannah, where he was sent for safekeeping. He appears greatly interested in each witness, and frequently consults his attorneys, J. K. Hines, of Atlanta; Judge Faircloth, of Wrightsville, and Judge B. T. Rawlings, of this city. Solicitor Moore is assisted by W. G. Gray, of Swainsboro, and Evans & Evans, of this city.

It is predicted the trial will consume the remainder of this week, Emanuel county bearing the expense, which will be enormous.

FEBRUARY'S EXPORTS COTTON SURPRISING

Exports for Month 1,544,512, an Increase Over Any Month Last Season.

New Orleans, March 3.—Foreign exports of cotton during February were 1,544,512 bales, a larger amount than was shipped out either during any preceding month of this season or any month during last season. Exports thus far this season amount to 5,283,789 bales, as compared with 8,883000 during all of last season.

The outward movement of the crop during February surprised even those who made high estimates. Few estimates were over 1,250,000 bales, while many traders thought it would be under the million mark, since February usually is a dull month, and this year shippers were more or less hampered by developments in Eurpoean waters. In addition to the total cleared, over 80,000 bales were cleared on the first of March, which really were February business.

The height of the movement last season was in November, in which month 1,470,000 bales were exported. Many traders predict that the height of the movement this season has not yet been reached, provided the measures which the European allies are putting into force regarding shipping do not have too unfavorable an effect.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON MARKET

New York, March 3.—(Special.)—Despite heavy selling here today for Liverpool account, general buying absorbed the offerings at a moderate advance in prices. During the early hours the volume of business showed a notable increase over previous days, and there was no mistaking the tendency to buy in the absence of fresh unfavorable news. While trading became smaller towards the afternoon, pressure was not apparent, although hedge sales by southern spot firms did reach the market. However, the tone continued and indicated that buying would broaden with any real improvement in general conditions.

JAY, BOND & CO.

New York, March 3.—(Special.)—No desire was shown by the south to sell their cotton on the lower markets caused by the action of the allies in restricting ocean commerce. On the contrary, there has appeared a small investment demand, which absorbed the local offerings and the arbitrage selling by Liverpool houses that trading has been transferred to them by the provisions of the Lever bill. With a little better feeling in Wall street, brought about by the purchase of the European offerings of bonds by many scattered investors, the market became firm in the afternoon, showing a change in the local sentiment, which had been looking for weaker southern markets because of higher rates of insurance.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, March 3.—Cotton goods markets were quiet today. Prices were steady. Yarns were dull. Worsted yarns were firm with an active demand reported for fancy yarns. Embroideries were quiet. Burlaps were strong on rising prices.

New York, March 3.—Cotton showed renewed firmness today and closed today at a net advance of 13 to 15 points.

Liverpool did not fully meet yesterday's American gains, but after opening 2 to 3 points higher, prices here quickly sold some 8 to 11 points above last night's closing figures, on a renewal of yesterday's buying movement. This advance carried the market some 30 to 35 points above the low level of yesterday and attracted considerable realizing, while there was also heavy selling here for Liverpool account.

Prices reacted several points in consequence, but the selling tapered off after the close of the English market and the market firmed up again, reaching the best point of the day in the late trading, when active months sold 10 to 16 points net higher.

Houses with New Orleans and other southern connections were considerable buyers here, while there was also a good deal of covering or rebuying by old longs.

Buyers seemed to find very few contracts offering on the afternoon advance, owing to the continued absence of hedge selling, but nothwithstanding the firm showing of the market, the talk around the floor reflected a very nervous feeling with reference to the export situation, and there were rumors that some cotton shippers were trying to re-let ocean freight room.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands, 680; no sales.

Buying in New Orleans.

New Orleans, March 3.—Steady buying featured the cotton market today and put prices up in the face of the announcements regarding the measures intended by the European allies to prevent shipments to Germany. At the best, the market stood 13 to 14 points up and closed 11 to 13 up.

At no time were prices under the level of yesterday's close, although Liverpool cables were unfavorable and war news was not regarded good, so far as it concerned cotton. On declines, brokers handled a steady volume of buying orders and the market was forced higher very gradually. Some buying evidently was for the account of frightened shorts, but the bulk of it appeared to be for the account of longs.

The day's exports were fairly large, 50,589 bales, and they helped the market in the afternoon, especially after it was known that February exports were 1,544,512 bales, the largest for any month this season and larger than the exports of any month last season.

STOCKS STRONGER ON BERLIN ACTION

Large Number of Issues Made Good Advances. Steel Was Conspicuous in Strength of Market.

New York, March 3.—For want of some more definite or specific reason, Wall street was disposed to attribute today's further rise in stocks to Berlin's acceptance of Washington's proposals regarding the regulation of this country's exports to Europe. At any rate, the market, which opened with some irregularity, soon became strong in most of its branches and gathered greater impetus as the session progressed.

In the final dealings profit-taking and renewal of bear pressure caused some recessions from the top level, but the closing was strong, with an unusually large number of material net gains. Trading was more diversified than in recent days, but speculative favorites led the movement throughout, United States Steel, Reading and the seasoned dividend payers contributing over 40 per cent of the whole.

Specialties moved in contrary fashion, some showing substantial advances, while others fell back correspondingly. This was exemplified in a 20-point rise in General Chemical and an 18-point decline in Harvester Corporation preferred.

The strength of Steel and allied shares was accounted for by the February record of the trade, although it seemed a debatable question whether the current month was keeping pace with its predecessors. Pig iron production showed a tendency to fall under last month's figures, and higher prices for finished products are being made with caution. The instability of the copper markets was reflected in a sharp break in London.

Long-time money was easier, half-year loans being made at 3¼ per cent and call loans were made at the surprisingly low rate of 1½ per cent. Foreign exchange markets were irregular, with a cessation of the recent unsettled conditions.

Among the numerous railway returns for January, New Haven reported a net increase of $607,000; Boston and Maine $264,000 and Northern Pacific a very slight increase. Reading lost $325,000 and Louisville and Nashville $155,000.

Bonds, as a whole, advanced in the face of increased offerings for European account. Missouri Pacific issues showed especial strength. Total sales, par value, were $2,860,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHEAT WAS WEAK AT CLOSE OF DAY

But Prices Showed Advance of One and Five-Eighths to Two Cents—Corn and Oats Higher.

Chicago, March 3.—Although wheat advanced most of the time today, on account of liberal export sales, the market at the close was weak, owing to assertions that the entire Argentine surplus for 1916 had been purchased by Great Britain. Gains were narrowed to 1⅝@2c compared with last night's level. Corn finished 1⅛ to 1⅛@1¼ up, and oats at a rise of 1¼. In provisions, the outcome varied from a loss of 5c to a like upturn.

Corn showed strength throughout the day, yielding only a little when wheat turned weak.

European demand for oats appeared to be as urgent as ever.

Despite some liquidating sales early in provisions the market wound up firm.

Southern Railway

common or preferred stock is now selling at the lowest prices in five years. In 1912, 1913, 1914 the preferred stock sold above $80 and the common above $28. The present prices of $43 for the preferred and $14 for the common show big declines from the high figures of recent years. The restoration of normal conditions in the South should result in better earnings for Southern Railway and better prices for the stock. We will carry accounts in lots of ten shares and upwards on margin.

POWER GIVEN PRESIDENT TO GUARD NEUTRALITY

Washington, March 3.—By unanimous vote the senate late tonight adopted, with amendments, a substitute for the joint resolution passed earlier in the house enlarging the power of the president to prevent infringements of American neutrality by vessels leaving ports of the United States with men or supplies for belligerent warships.

Counsellor Lansing gave out the following statement explaining the object of the resolution:

"Under present conditions, in case the neutrality of the United States is being, or is likely to be, violated, by the use of any of its ports as a base of operations through the furnishing of fuel, arms and ammunition, to warships of a belligerent nation, the only remedy which the United States has is the preventive power of the president under constitutional authority to enforce the laws and especially to preserve the neutrality of the United States.

"The object of this joint resolution is to make the act which constitutes the violation of the neutral obligations of this country a penal offense and also to make more definite by legislative enactment the right of the president to withhold clearance in case it shall appear that such neutral obligations is about to be violated."

The resolution grew directly out of facts learned by the administration in the recent grand jury investigation in New York into the alleged shipment of supplies to belligerent nations at sea.

The senate substitute later was agreed to in the house. The resolution now goes to President Wilson for his signature.

Standing by R. F. D. Service.

Washington, March 3.—The house tonight passed a resolution putting itself on record as opposed to any reorganization of the rural mail service "that will render that service less effective, or will tend in any way to reduce the number of rural mail routes." The resolution was directed against a reorganization scheme proposed by Postmaster General Burleson.

HOW TO STOP DANDRUFF AND LOSS OF HAIR

Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment that will almost always stop dandruff and scalp itching, and keep the hair thick, live and lustrous: At night, spread the hair apart and rub a little resinol ointment into the scalp gently, with the tip of the finger. Repeat this until the whole scalp has been treated. Next morning, shampoo thoroughly with resinol soap and hot water. Work the creamy resinol lather well into the scalp. Rinse with gradually cooler water, the last water being cold.

WHITE MEN LYNCHED FOR STEALING HOGS

Victims Taken From Officers by Arkansas Mob and Riddled With Bullets.

Clarendon, Ark., March 3.—Jeff Mansel and H. M. Candy, white fishermen, accused of stealing hogs, were taken from officers and shot to death by a mob near Clarendon yesterday, according to reports made to the sheriff here today.

The men were arrested at their homes in a remote section, and were being taken in a boat through a narrow bayou to jail when the mob, partially hidden behind bushes on the bank of the stream, ordered that the prisoners be landed. The men were heavily armed, the officers declare, and the command was complied with. Later the bodies of the fishermen, riddled with bullets, were found by a searching party.

Efforts tonight to secure information as to the identity of members of the mob were unsuccessful.

Wife Still Loves Him, Says Husband, Replying To Her Divorce Suit

An unusual answer was filed to a wife's suit for divorce yesterday in the superior court, when W. R. Mathis, an employee of the city waterworks department, presented the cross-bill to his wife's suit on grounds of desertion.

Mathis declares that he still loves his wife, and was seeking reconciliation; that his reason for deserting her some two years ago or more was on account of the overwhelming burden of debt that oppressed him.

He charges that the wife still loves him, and that her suit was not filed of her own volition. Mrs. Mathis is the daughter of a family living in Athens, and, since her separation, has been teaching school.

Money Restored Congressmen.

Washington, March 3.—Six thousand dollars deducted from the salaries of representatives in congress absent during the closing days of the last session was restored to the absentees by a resolution passed tonight by the house.

Injured in Accident He Calls for "May" Who Deserted Him

In the Grady hospital there is a young man delirious and at times unconscious from injuries received in an automobile accident last evening, and somewhere in the city there is a beautiful young girl who fled down the street, leaving him calling, "Come here, May."

A Flanders machine containing a man and a girl, and going about 35 miles an hour, came down DeKalb avenue in the direction of Decatur about 9 o'clock last night. When a man suddenly stepped into DeKalb, near Elizabeth street, the car turned quickly to the side in order to avoid him and shot a good distance up a guy wire attached to a post on the sidewalk.

Both the occupants fell out of the machine backward. The man lay still for a time, only calling from time to time to the girl, who was walking swiftly away, apparently unharmed, according to witnesses. At the hospital he regained consciousness sufficiently to say that his name was Peacock. Further than that, he would not or could not say. The physicians state that he may possibly have a fractured skull. But who was the fleeing girl?

RURAL CREDITS RIDER KILLED BY CONFEREES

Washington, March 3.—Conferees on the agricultural bill late today agreed to eliminate entirely the rural credits rider and substitute a provision for investigation of the rural credits question by a joint congressional commission to report next session.

Jack and Bob say:

Distinctive

"This store is distinctly different in that the Hayes Boys come in actual, personal contact with every customer and thus render a personal service and responsibility unattainable in larger institutions."

"Both Jack and Bob make it their daily work to see that every customer is satisfied."

"No single sale made here is worth the good will of the buyer."

"This principle applies as well on our $35 made-to-measure business suits as it does on a single clean collar."

"That dollar-and-a-half Shirt window is a corker. Have you seen it?"

Some of the symptoms and effects of this serious diseased condition are "craving" for more liquor or drugs, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness and serious heart, stomach, liver, kidney and other ailments.

ELIMINATION of the poisons is the only cure. The Neal Treatment acts as an antidote for these poisons, eliminates them from the system, creates a loathing for liquor or drugs and overcomes the diseased condition.
